A. MARR.

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Dated Darjeeling, the 17th August 1920.

From—MAJOR A. DENHAM WHITE, I.M.S., Secretary and Superintendent of Eden Sanitarium and Hospital, Darjeeling,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial and Medical Departments, Calcutta.

(Through, the Surgeon-General with the Government of Bengal, Calcutta.)

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Eden Sanitarium and Hospital for the year 1919.

2. The Sanitarium was opened on the 1st April 1919 and closed on the 6th November 1919.

3. The Hospital attached to the Sanitarium was opened on the 13th March 1919 and closed on the 20th December 1919. It was occupied for 9 months and 9 days during that year.

4. The following table shows the number of each class of patients and their relatives admitted into the Sanitarium during the past six years :—

Admissions.		1914.	1915.	1916.	1917.	1918.	1919.

Third Class ...	...	144	167	131	113	201	107
Total	...	606	607	542	542	712	443

5. The following table shows the number of patients and their relatives and friends admitted during the last six years together with the daily average sick :—

The following table shows the different sexes of the patients with the result after treatment :—

		CHILDREN

Statement showing the children admitted during 1918 and 1919 :—

Year of admission.		1st class.	Intermediate.	2nd class.	3rd class	Total
1918	...	34	37	92	20	183
1919	...	22	11	55	23	111

From the above figures it will appear that there has been a decrease of residents in all classes during the year under report.

6. The total number of patients treated in this institution in the year 1919 was 143 against 105 in the year 1918.

7. The total number of operations performed in 1919 was 36 against 19 in the year 1918. The selected operations were performed by the Superintendent.

8. The total number of persons treated in the free beds were 25 in the year under report against 19 in the year 1918.

9. The greater number of people were admitted from Calcutta, while those from Darjeeling came next. It is interesting to note that people from long distances such as Allahabad, Assam, Benares, Bombay, Cachar, Cawnpore, Jabbalpur, Lucknow, Mussoorie and Meerut were attracted here for a change.

10. The following subscriptions were received in the year 1919 :—

		Rs.
(1) Darjeeling Improvement Fund	... ...	1,000
(2) „ Municipality ...	... ...	1,000
(3) Messrs. Hamilton & Co. ...	... ...	25
(4) „ Mackintosh, Burn & Co.	.. ...	25
(5) Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway Co.	... ..	100
(6) Messrs. Cooke & Kelvy ...	... ...	25
(7) „ R. Knight & Sons ...	... ...	25
(8) D. P. Mackenzie. Esq. ...	... ...	250
	Total ...	2,450

11. The daily average cost of diet for residents and staff was Rs. 2-6-9 as compared with Rs. 2-1-10 in 1918. The increase is due to scarcity which prevailed in this district accompanied by an unprecedented rise of price of provisions.

12. The daily average number of people for the whole year works out at 25, but for the period the Sanitarium and Hospital was open it was 33 as compared with 39 and 52 respectively for the year 1918.

13. The average stay of each resident was 21 days as compared with 18 days in the year 1918.

14. The fall of residents in all classes resulted in the decrease of income during the year under report. The hotels and boarding-houses were not full during the season. Many rooms in the higher classes in the Sanitari um remained unoccupied.

The reason for this may be attributed to the route to England being opened after the cessation of war. Another reason was the high cost of living in the hills which kept away many people of ordinary means from coming up here for a change as they used to do before the war.

The fall of receipts against the heads "Medical Attendance" and "Nursing Fees' is due to the opening of the Lady Minto Nursing Home at Salt Hill where both maternity and surgical cases were admitted during the year under report.

The increase of receipts against the head "Operations" is due to the popularity of the institution.

During the year under report a Concert and a Fancy Fête were organised by the ladies of this town under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor of Bengal. The amount of Rs. 4,042-8 was realised which was shown against the head "Charity Fund." This amount helped a good deal to recoup the loss on the working of this Institution during the year 1919.

Owing to lesser number of admissions in the Sanitarium there has been a decrease of expenditure against several heads of accounts.

The increase of expenditure against the head "General Charges," "Stationery and Printing" and "Servants' Clothing" is due to the rise of prices of certain articles on account of the war. Under the head "General Charges" the cost for the purchase of postage stamps, telegrams, railway freight of goods, repairs to utensils, purchase of petty articles other than furniture are included.

The proportionate increase of expenditure against the head "Lighting" is due to keeping the hospital open till the month of December, 1919.

The amount shown against "travelling allowance and pay of nurses" showed a marked decrease. It is due to the fact that less number of nurses were engaged in the Sanitarium during the year under report. The Sanitarium nurses were not employed in cases outside the hospital as outside nurses were available to take up such cases.

The amount of Rs. 2,000 was received in 1918 as grants from the D. I. Fund and the Municipality for overhauling the X-Ray apparatus of this institution. This amount was not spent that year, but during the yeas under report the X-Ray apparatus was thoroughly overhauled at a cost of Rs. 2,530-11. Messrs. Lawrence & Mayo sent up one of their X-Ray experts to carry out the work and it was done under my supervision.

The fluctuations against other heads of accounts are trifling and call for no remarks.

15. The Sanitarium and Hospital were officially visited by the following officers during the year 1919 :—

(1) Hon'ble Colonel J. K. Close, M.D., I.M.S., Offg. Surgeon-General with the Government of Bengal.

(2) Rev. Father E. Van Tichelen, S.J.

(3) F. L. Peters, Esq.

(4) Rev. H. C. Duncan, M.A.

(5) D. J. Blomfield, Esq.

(6) R. A. Arnold Jenkins, Esq.

16. The Committee held nine meetings during the year 1919 against seven in the preceding year. The most important subject which was dealt with was the scheme for the reorganization of the Eden Sanitarium and the revision of rules to run this place purely as a Hospital.

17. Sister Mary Frances, C.S.J.B., was in charge of the linen room library and nurses, and thanks are due to her for the help she rendered to this institution.

18. The other staff of the institution worked entirely to my satisfaction.

19. The accounts of the Eden Sanitarium and Hospital for the year 1919 were audited by Mr. J. C. Das, B.Sc., etc., Government authorised auditor.

20. General remarks.—The financial position has become unsatisfactory owing to the admission of less number of people in the higher classes. This is caused by the route to England being opened after the termination of war and people who have not gone home since the outbreak of war have availed themselves of this opportunity. There is very little chance of any improvement of this position in the near future as owing to the unprecedented rise of price of provisions and other necessities of life people find it very hard to come up here for a change. It is no longer possible to make this institution self-supporting for the above reasons and since the opening of the Lady Minto Nursing Home at Salt Hill this institution lost many patients.

The Committee approached the Government to support this institution with a recurring grant of Rs. 12,000 per year. The matter is still under their consideration.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORTS ON INLAND EMIGRATION UNDER THE ASSAM LABOUR AND EMIGRATION ACT, 1901, FOR THE YEAR ENDING THE 30TH JUNE 1920.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

COMMERCE DEPARTMENT.

Emigration Branch.

CALCUTTA, THE 25TH NOVEMBER 1920.

RESOLUTION—No. 4085Emi.

READ—

The Reports on Inland Emigration under the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901 (VI of 1901) for the year ending the 30th June 1920, submitted by the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, and the District and Assistant Superintendents of Emigration.

1. The year under review was an uneventful one, its principal feature being the considerable decrease in the number of emigrants despatched to the labour districts as compared with the previous year. No administrative measure of importance was introduced during the year.

2. Recruiting operations were conducted in the districts of Bankura, Birbhum, Burdwan and Midnapore, where seven hundred garden-sardars (including 177 sardarnis) were employed during the year as against 1,522 (including 353 sardarnis) in the preceding year. All of them worked under the supervision of licensed local agents. Thirteen local agents' licenses were issued in 1919-1920 as compared with six in the year 1918-1919. In all, 600 emigrants were recruited in Bengal, or 1,764 less than in the previous year, Midnapore and Bankura supplying the largest number of recruits, viz., 369 and 183, respectively No criminal case connected with emigration was reported during the year.

3. The total number of emigrants recruited in Bengal and other provinces who embarked at Goalundo during the year under report, was 50,989, as compared with 119,883 in the preceding year, in which the number of emigrants was abnormally large owing to the scarcity and high prices prevailing in the recruiting districts. Most gardens were thus better stocked with labour than they had been for many years and consequently the demand was less.

4. The places of accommodation and rest-houses for emigrants were duly inspected and generally kept in proper sanitary condition, while the arrangements for river transport were satisfactory. Twenty-three deaths, of which six were due to cholera, were reported to have occurred among emigrants at Asansol, Kharagpur or Naihati on their way to Goalundo and among the 51,052 emigrants, who arrived at that station, there were 55 deaths, seven being due to cholera. There was no death during the steamer journey to Chandpur among the 17,892 emigrants, who embarked for the Surma Valley districts, but of the 33,097 emigrants who embarked for the Brahmaputra Valley, 28 died during the voyage, three of the deaths being due to cholera.

5. Fifteen emigrants refused to embark after their arrival at Goalundo, one was rejected as physically unfit for labour on a tea estate, and one was repatriated from the labour district viâ Goalundo.

6. In connection with the transport of labour to Assam, receipts fell from Rs. 1,840 in the preceding year to Rs. 1,751, while the expenditure rose from Rs. 14,482 to Rs. 22,720.

7. Lt.-Col. E. A. W. Hall, I.M.S., held the office of Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, up to the 31st March 1920, when he proceeded on leave preparatory to retirement. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to him and to Major Gourlay, who succeeded him for his report and to the local officers for their assistance in the administration of the Act.

By order of the Governor in Council,

A. MARR,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Germany.—Gift parcels sent by parcel post may enter Germany without import licence and also free from duty and taxes, provided they do not contain more than 2 kilos (70 ozs.) of tobacco.

Syria.—A Parcel Post Service is in operation north of Acre to Alexandretta and west of Aleppo, including—

Beyrout, Damascus, Hamah, Homs, Latakia, Rayak and Tripoli.

Turkey.—Parcels for civilians in Turkey and Smyrna will only be accepted if they are fully addressed "c-o Poste Restante, British Army Post Office, Constantinople" (or Smyrna) and parcels must be called for at the British Post Offices.

URGENT ORDERS.

The Import and Export Licensing Section, Board of Trade, announces that firms receiving orders which require immediate acceptance may telegraph details of any such order to ascertain whether a licence will be granted for the export of the goods if the order is accepted.

In the event of an applicant being promised a licence he will be enabled to deal with the order straightaway with the knowledge that upon application being made in the proper form to the Import and Export Licensing Section (Board of Trade) the licence will be granted.

The telegrams should be addressed to "Derestim, London." They should give in each case in addition to the name and postal or telegraphic address of the applicant the quantity and description of the goods comprised in the order and the country of destination. A reply of 24 words must be prepaid.

Applicants are requested in their own interest to confine their enquiries to orders needing a very urgent decision, since the fewer the enquiries the more promptly can answers be given.

Any subsequent correspondence that is necessary in connection with the telegraphic enquiries should be addressed to The Director, Import and Export Licensing Section, Board of Trade, Great George Street, S. W. 1.

No. 10596B.G—The 6th December 1920.—The report on the working of the Government Cinchona Plantations and Factory in Bengal for the year 1919-20 is published for general information.

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

FIFTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATIONS AND FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1919-20.

1. General.—The outstanding features of the year under review in the cinchona and quinine trades have been the re-establishment of the Dutch Combine on lines similar to those existing in pre-war days, the formation of a British Quinine Corporation for purposes of co-operative buying from the Dutch, and the release towards the end of 1919 of Government control of the quinine market in London. It is now possible and may be permissible at short length to review the history of quinine from the beginning of the war to the time when stocks became sufficiently plentiful to allow release of control and the drug to find its own economic level of prices and its own channels of distribution. Briefly, the episode is one of a commodity, controlled by a group of monopolists encountering the various restrictions, political and economic, of nations in the grip war. For the growing needs of the world, supplies were none too plentiful when hostilities broke out in August 1914. Germany, one of the largest manufacturing and distributing countries, had stocks enough in hand and, if she required to do so, was able to obtain during the earlier stages of the war, enough of the raw product to meet all her own and her partner's wants. The Allies were, from the first, largely dependent for supplies on the good-will of a neutral power which, when the crisis of 1918 came indicating a world's shortage of the drug, could show in no uncertain manner that it had learned to appreciate the defensive power of this economic weapon. The Allies had to have quinine. There was no reason why the Dutch should fail to profit by the occasion. To the paramount needs of the Allied armies were added requirements to meet the great influenza scourge and it early became apparent that if pressure had to be applied to secure supplies, it should not be applied piecemeal. On the one hand, the Dutch eagerly desired a new economic agreement of such a general nature as would allow of a less restricted trade flow. In particular, they desired increased supplies of coal in Europe and machinery and certain food-stuffs including Burma rice for their colonies. On the other hand they were fully alive to the disadvantages of bartering once and for all the bargaining power which the possession of the cinchona monopoly conferred. On their part, the Allies had to balance the advantages of getting the drug with the disadvantages under war and early post-war conditions of allowing Holland facilities for trade and commodities which they could ill-afford to spare. The final result was collective bargaining on the part of the Allies and the signing of an agreement to be worked by the Combine and a body called the Association of Quinine Manufacturers in Allied countries. By this agreement supplies became assured. Even when it could scarcely have paid them to do so, the Dutch loyalty kept by it till its termination with the end of the war.

The after-war history of the drug, too, is of interest. In common with many other commodities where genuine shortage gave opportunity for speculation by second and third hand holders. quinine came under some annoying though necessary post-war trade restrictions. Its controlled price in the English market would not bear comparison with the high-level rates prevailing abroad and at one time it became cheaper, nominally, to get re-export quinine landed in Calcutta from London than to get quinine direct from Java. The drug began to flow freely to other main distributing centres and these conditions so threatened London's important export trade that Government control was eventually withdrawn leaving quinine once again a trade free commodity. On decontrol, prices in the English market soon reached continental and American levels; fluctuations in rates of exchange, however, still leaving opportunity for speculation. The British Quinine Corporation working in harmony with the Dutch Combine now practically controls the English quinine market. Prices have of late shown a tendency to decline, but the production of bark and quinine as a lucrative commercial proposition is established on a sounder foundation than ever. This position, no less than the lesson the last five years have taught of the advisability of relying on home industries for essentials, may be responsible for the growing interest various countries now evince in cinchona cultivation. In particular, is this true of America, Japan and—within the British Empire—India. The current year has witnessed the beginnings of a scheme for the supply from within the Empire of a larger proportion of its quinine requirements than has hitherto been possible. It is much too early yet to predict that Burma will prove an important source of the drug for India or the Empire, but work has started and, so far, the signs are hopeful. In the Bengal plantations the strain of war years is now evident in greatly reduced harvests. During 1919-20, 513,043 lbs. only were cropped and there will be a still smaller harvest during 1920-21. So far as the plantations are concerned this is all to the good, but, unless bark which is expected from Java arrives soon, the factory will be running at an uneconomic rate.

2. Extensions, Acreages and Crops.—(a) Mungpoo.—Rainfall was 104·43 inches against an average of 123·6 for the past 42 years. The dry weather was prolonged, no rain of any value to cinchona falling from the middle of October 1919 till the end of February 1920. The younger blocks of cinchona and forest trees suffered in consequence of this drought, but vacancies caused will be filled in during the 1920 planting season. Cinchona extensions in all were 255 acres, consisting of Cinchona Ledgeriana 172 acres on Mungpoo division and 55 acres on Sittong division and of Cinchona Ledgeriana × succirubra 28 acres on Labdah division. About 96,650 trees, equivalent to 51·6 acres, of cinchona of various ages, but of an average age of 7·1 years were cut out, yielding 194,158 lbs. of dry bark, an average of 2·01 lbs. per tree or 3,763 lbs. per acre. This very low yield is ascribed, partly to the age of the trees cut out, partly to an unreliable method of estimating their number. Of the total bark harvest, 9,075 lbs. were C. succirubra, 55,888 lbs. C. Ledgeriana × succirubra and 129,195 lbs. C. Ledgeriana. The average quinine percentage of the ledger bark was 4·81, of the hybrid bark 4·15 and of the mixed barks 4·61. At the end of March 1920, there were 728·7 acres under a full complement of cinchona. Afforestation extensions amounted to 35 acres, bringing the total acreage of fuel and timber trees up to 3,075 at the end of the year. Over 700 tons of wood fuel of value Rs. 2,944 and about 1,960 cubic feet of sawn timber of value Rs. 487 were supplied free to the factory.

(b) Munsong.—Rainfall was 105·46 inches against an average of 96·48 for the past 19 years. Very heavy hail, lying in many places to a depth of 18 inches, caused considerable damage to the young plants and nurseries in the higher parts of the plantation. The young shoots of recently coppiced trees, especially, were affected, but have since come on well. Extensions were 412 acres, consisting of 315 C. Ledgeriana (85 on Kashyem, 110 on Munsong, 50 on Burmiak and 70 on Sangser divisions, respectively), 57 of C. Ledgeriana × officinalis (25 on Kashyem, 7 on Munsong and 25 on Burmiak, respectively) and 40 of C. Ledgeriana × succirubra on Munsong division. About 189,070 trees, equivalent to 145·5 acres, of various ages, but of an average age of 5·69 years, were cut out, yielding 318,885 lbs. of dry bark or an average of nearly 1·7 lbs. per tree and 2,191 lbs. per acre. Of the total harvest 263,660 lbs. were C. Ledgeriana, 38,075 lbs. C. Ledgeriana × succirubra, 23,650 lbs. C. officinalis and 760 lbs. C. succirubra. The average quinine percentage of the ledger bark was 4·30, of the hybrid 2·11 and of the C. officinalis 3·90, the average of the mixed barks being 4·09. At the end of March 1920, there were 2,351·8 acres under a full complement of cinchona. During the year, 55 acres of cinchona sick land were put back into forest, bringing the total reafforested area on Munsong plantation up to 421 acres.

(c) Plantations as a whole.—The total area under a full complement of cinchona is 3,080 acres, of which 2,319 acres are comparatively young. Details are given in Appendix A. The approximate number of cinchona trees is 5,090,000, of which about 3,610,000, are on Munsong and 1,480,000 on Mungpoo.

3. Factory Work.—Besides 514,540 lbs. of bark from Java for the Government of India, 149,835 lbs. of Mungpoo bark and 334,410 lbs. of Munsong bark were worked up during the year. The actual amounts of quinine sulphate shown by analysis were 6,902 lbs. in the Mungpoo bark and 13,686 lbs. in the Munsong bark, a total of 20,588 lbs., while that in the Java bark was 31,571 lbs. The products actually obtained were 47,727½ lbs. of sulphate of quinine, 1,022 lbs. of hydrochlorides equivalent to 1,160 lbs. of sulphate and 15,166 lbs. cinchona febrifuge, containing quinine equivalent to 2,226 lbs. of sulphate. This is a yield of 98 per cent. on the analytical results. Assuming an equal efficiency of extraction over all the barks used, the Java bark gave 98 per cent. of 31,571 lbs. or 30,938 lbs. Of this amount, the equivalent of 1,349 lbs. of sulphate went into the 9,230 lbs. Febrifuge made from Java bark, leaving a balance of 29,589 lbs. sulphate set aside for the Government of India. No account is taken of this quinine in the provincial stock statements under Appendix C. All the cinchona febrifuge, however, is being sold and the proceeds of the portion belonging to the Government of India, less cost of manufacture borne by Provincial revenues, will eventually be credited to that Government. The cost of extraction per lb. of quinine sulphate was Rs. 2·37, making a sum of Rs. 70,126 debitable hereafter against the Government of India. The plantation barks yielded 18,138·25 lbs. of quinine sulphate, 1,022 lbs. of hydrochlorides and 5,936 lbs. of cinchona febrifuge containing quinine equivalent to 877 lbs. sulphate.

4. Cost and Value of Plantation Bark.—The 194,158 lbs. of bark harvested from Mungpoo at 3·6 annas per lb. cost Rs. 43,685. The unit-rate for bark during 1919-20 being 2 annas and the average quinine percentage of Mungpóo bark 4·6, the market value of the bark was 9·2 annas per lb. or a total of Rs. 111,640 or Rs. 67,955 plus freight and carriage charges more than it actually cost. The 318,885 lbs. of Munsong bark at 2·7 annas per lb. cost Rs. 53,812, whereas its market value at 2 annas per unit and an average percentage of 4·09 was 8·18 annas per lb. or a total of Rs. 1,63,030 or Rs. 1,09,218 plus freight and carriage charges more than it actually cost. The total cost of the total harvest was Rs. 97,497, while the actual market value was Rs. 2,74,670. In other words, purchase of the same quantity of bark in the market would have cost Government Rs. 1,77,174 plus freight and carriage charges more than it actually did cost.

5. Cost and Value of Quinine Produced—(a) Cost in the Bark.—The 484,245 lbs. of plantation bark used in the factory cost—at 3·6 annas per lb. for Mungpoo and 2·7 annas for Munsong—Rs. 90,144 and yielded 18,138·25 lbs. sulphate and 1,022 lbs. hydrochlorides—a total sulphate equivalent of 19,298·25 lbs. The cost of quinine in the plantation bark before extraction was, therefore, Rs. 4·771 per lb.

(b) Cost of Extraction, Packing and Delivery to Railway.—The net factory expenditure after the exclusion of bark and quinine purchase charges and charges in connection with the manufacture of products other than sulphate and hydrochlorides, and the inclusion of net depreciation of factory block and share of general charges was Rs. 1,15,676-9-7. This sum gave an equivalent of 18,887·25 lbs. quinine sulphate which, therefore, cost Rs. 2·366 per lb. to extract, pack and deliver.

(c) Total Cost per lb.—The cost per lb. in the bark was Rs. 4·671 and of its extraction, etc., Rs. 2·366 a total of Rs. 7·037.

(d) Value.—For purposes of valuation in the stock account, Rs. 28 per lb. for quinine sulphate has been taken. The average import rate C.I.F., Calcutta, for quantities in bulk was over Rs. 29 for the first ten months of the official year. At present it is about Rs. 32, so that Rs. 28 may be considered a reasonably low estimate.

6. Sales and Selling Rates.—Total issues were 79,666 lbs. 9 oz. of cinchona products and 8,268 lbs. of bark. Of the total, 62,439 lbs. 9 oz. were quinine Sulphate, of which 10,830 lbs. were sold or distributed in tablet form as "treatments". The following are the rates per lb. at which factory products were sold during 1919-20. Quinine sulphate Rs. 24 to Rs. 26 according to quantities; cinchona febrifuge Rs. 5 to Rs. 7 according to quantities and form; quinoidine tablets Rs. 6 to Rs. 7; cinchonidine sulphate Rs. 11 to Rs. 12; quinoidine in non-tablet form and residual alkaloids Rs. 4.

7. Expenditure and Receipts.—The total expenditure was Rs. 12,80,877-11-9, of which Rs. 9,68,844-10-0 represents the year's charges on account of foreign bark and quinine, leaving Rs. 3,12,033-1-9 as the total direct expenditure on the department. The gross receipts were Rs. 20,97,596-15-1, of which Rs. 11,90,995-12-0 were credit and Rs. 9,06,601-3-1 cash. Of the latter, Rs. 2,77,117-0-5 are claimed by the Prisons Department to cover the cost of converting 10,830 lbs. of purified quinine into tablet form and distributing the tablets. The net revenue to be credited to the Cinchona Department is, therefore, Rs. 18,20,479-14-8 and the net surplus for the year Rs. 5,39,602-2-11. This is a handsome money surplus considering that over Rs. 9½ lakhs have gone in the purchase of quinine.

8. Quinine Reserve and Stock Account.—The total provincial quinine reserve stood at 50,356 lbs. 11 oz. on the 31st March 1920. This is 44,831 lbs. less than the balance, including the amount under suspense, with which the year opened. The value of stock of all sorts, on the 31st March 1920, was Rs. 15,80,442-14-3, of which quinine sulphate valued at Rs. 14,09,986-4-0 and bark at Rs. 1,25,666 are the principal items.

9. Block Account.—The total valuation under this heading is Rs. 21,12,505-0-5, of which buildings stand at Rs. 1,28,011-10-10, machinery at Rs. 74,400-5-7 and plantations at Rs. 19,10,093. Cinchona trees are valued at Rs. 16,32,890 and timber and fuel trees at Rs. 2,77,203.

10. Profit and Loss Valuation.—The change since the end of last financial year in valuation of block and stock, expenditure—except capital expenditure—and receipts also being taken into computation, shows a profit balance of Rs. 1,84,177-1-7.

11. Land Rent.—From Munsong, Rs. 975-8-6 were paid into the Kalimpong Sub-Treasury to Forest Department account and from Mungpoo, Rs. 4,898-14-6 were paid into the Darjeeling Treasury as land rent and grazing fees.

12. Staff.—Lieutenant-Colonel A. T. Gage, I.M.S., was in administrative charge till the 10th October 1919 when he went on combined leave; thereafter, the writer held administrative charge till the end of the year. Mr. G. E. Shaw, B.SC., F.I.C., F.C.S., was Government Quinologist, throughout the year. During April 1919, he was deputed to Burma in connection with the new cinchona scheme. Mr. P. T. Russell was on deputation to Burma during April 1919 and held charge as Manager, Mungpoo Plantation, till the 4th August 1919 when, on the grant of leave, he handed over charge to Mr. H. Thomas. On his return from leave in January, Mr. Russell proceeded to Burma as Superintendent of Cinchona Cultivation in that province. Mr. H. F. Green was Manager of Munsong throughout the year. From the 1st to the 30th April 1919 and from the 4th August to the 31st March 1920, Mr. Thomas officiated as Manager, Mungpoo. Mr. P. V. Osborne, Assistant Manager, Munsong, was transferred to the Royal Botanic Gardens, Sibpur, as Offg. Curator from the 2nd July 1919. Mr. G Holl, Mr. P. W. Cresswell and Mr. J. A. Hulbert officiated as Assistant Managers in the department from the 2nd July 1919, the 8th January 1920 and the 2nd August 1919, respectively. Mr. T. H. Child was appointed temporarily as assistant in the factory from the 7th March 1919 to the 13th August 1919 when he resigned Government service. All the officers of the factory and plantations and the clerical staff performed their duties with their wonted efficiency.

ADDENDUM.

Medicinal Plants other than Cinchona.

Ipecacuanha.—12,500 plants were raised during the year. Of this number, 6,500 were used to fill vacancies among young stock, the remainder being planted in new nurseries. The total number of plants now stands at approximately 76,000. The older plants seeded well and all the seed has been sown. The question of whether or not the cultivation of Ipecacuanha can be made to pay is still uncertain. The percentage of losses during the cold weather has been heavy, but if plants can be reared from seed, it may still pay to risk these losses.

Digitalis.—Digitalis has been put out at a higher elevation than where it went out on Mungpoo in the earlier stages of its cultivation. The crops came of those societies are credit societies, whose membership has risen from 128,471 to 147,923, working capital from Rs. 86½ lakhs to Rs. 104 lakhs and paid-up share capital from Rs. 65,252 to Rs. 1½ lakhs. The increase in share capital is due to the adoption of the share system in order to make the societies financially independent It is satisfactory to find that the Registrar considers that the day of dishonest office-bearers is on the wane; whilst his remarks in paragraph 20 of his report on the good social and moral effects of the existence of the societies on their members are significant.

6. A feature of the department continued to be the development of agricultural non-credit and non-agricultural societies, of which the number increased from 31 and 262, respectively, in the previous year to 58 and 360 in the year under review. The most important developments amongst agricultural non-credit societies have taken place in irrigation societies in Bankura and in milk societies near Calcutta. The possibilities of irrigation societies in Bankura are receiving the special attention of the co-operative department, and it is hoped that they will be able to take advantage of the provisions of the Bengal Agricultural and Sanitary Drainage Act which was recently passed in Council. The number of milk societies has increased from 19 to 40, which supply from 12 to 52 maunds of milk per day to Calcutta. The Naogaon Ganja Cultivators Co-operative Society made a net profit of Rs. 1¾ lakhs during the year and continued its career of general usefulness in spheres other than ganja cultivation under the guidance of Khan Bahadur Ata-ur-Rahman, Deputy Collector as its chief executive officer. The Sundarbans Supply and Sale Society made a profit of Rs. 7,035; the society has now decided to erect granaries for storing, and to purchase machinery for husking, paddy. Amongst non-agricultural societies the most remarkable advance was in the demand for Store and Supply societies, of which the number increased from 18 to 65. The increase is due to the prevailing high prices. Such societies are, it is reported, doing well on the whole, whilst the demand is on the increase. There was an increase of 20 non-agricultural credit societies and of 28 societies amongst weavers. In this connection the Bankura District Co-operative Industrial Union continued its useful activity. It provided employment for 550 families of weavers, supplied finished cloth worth Rs. 1,37,668 and made a profit of Rs. 7,351.

7. The Bengal Co-operative Organisation Society which also aims at being a central bureau of information and advice on matters relating to co-operation, continued to do useful propaganda work by means of lectures and through its organs, "The Bengal, Bihar and Orissa Co-operative Journal" and the "Bhandar." The Governor in Council appreciates the work which is being done by it and its members, in particular by Professor J. C. Coyajee and Professor P. Mukharjee.

8. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to Mr. Donovan for the zeal and energy shown by him in his conduct of the affairs of the department and to Mr. M. Thorp for its efficient administration during the latter part of the year. His Excellency in Council observes with pleasure the remarks of the Registrar on the good work of the different officers employed in the department; and he has much pleasure in recording his appreciation of the value of the help given by numerous officials and non-officials to it.

CALCUTTA, THE 7TH DECEMBER 1920.

RESOLUTION—No. 2156Medl.

READ—

The Triennial Report on the working of the hospitals and dispensaries in the Bengal Presidency for the years 1917, 1918 and 1919.

Major-General W. R. Edwards, C.B., C.M.G., M.D., I.M.S., was in charge of the medical administration of the Presidency during the first year of the triennium, and, pending the arrival of his successor, Major-General W. H. B. Robinson, C.B., K.H.S., I.M.S., Lt.-Colonel Sir Walter Buchanan, I.M.S., Inspector-General of Prisons, Bengal, held charge of the office of the Surgeon-General from the 3rd January to the 11th March 1918, in addition to his own duties. Major-General Robinson assumed charge on the 12th March 1918. During his absence on leave from the 6th March to the 27th November 1919, Colonel J. K. Close, I.M.S., acted for him.

2. The Medical Department had to work under the same adverse conditions as in the preceding three years for the reason that not only, with few exceptions, were the medical officers, who had been deputed from Bengal to military service, not allowed to revert, but there were 65 further deputations to the Military Department during the triennium, against 52 reversions. The total number of officers on deputation to military duty from the Presidency of Bengal was 132, consisting of 20 I.M.S officers, 21 military assistant surgeons, 28 civil assistant surgeons (both permanent and temporary) and 63 civil sub-assistant surgeons. This serious and continuous drain upon the resources of the province, though necesstiated by emergencies which it was incumbent upon Bengal, alike with other provinces, to assist in meeting, has meant that work has been carried on in most unfavourable, circumstances, and even to carry on has imposed a heavy strain on all concerned.

3. During the last three years there were 14 deaths, 25 retirements, 3 resignations and 2 dismissals among the officers under the Medical Department. Among those who died were two eminent members of the I.M.S., viz., Lt.-Colonel R. Bird, M.V.O., and Lt.-Colonel C. R. Stevens, both brilliant surgeons and distinguished professors of the Calcutta Medical College, and in them the Medical Department has suffered a great loss. Seven I.M.S. officers retired, including Lt.-Colonel J. T. Calvert, C.I.E., who had held with distinction the responsible post of Principal of the Medical College and Superintendent of the Medical College Hospitals, Calcutta, for several years.

4. During the period under review the pay of almost all classes of officers in the Department has been revised. The pay of I.M.S. officers in civil employ was increased with effect from the 1st December 1918, and that of sub-assistant surgeons from the 1st June 1918. The pay and prospects of compounders in Bengal, as well as of clerks in civil surgeons' offices and of the menials in all medical institutions under Government, were also improved last year. A revised scale of pay has recently been sanctioned for the civil assistant surgeons of the Presidency.

5. Medical Education.—The need for a greater number of qualified medical practitioners has received the earnest attention of Government. In order to meet this demand, the sanctioned strength of the students at the existing Government Medical Schools at Calcutta and Dacca has been raised to 500 and 400, respectively, while the establishment of a new medical school at Burdwan has been sanctioned, with accommodation for 200 students. It is hoped that it will be opened next year. The question of establishing medical schools at other suitable centres is also under consideration, and, in particular, a scheme in connection with the enlarged and improved hospital at Mymensingh is being elaborated. But it is necessary to proceed with some caution; each new school involves considerable capital and recurring expenditure, and the maintenance of an efficient hospital alongside of it is an essential condition of its success or, indeed, of its feasibility. The actual working of these institutions, too, in the smaller mufassal towns has still to be seen. The Carmichael Medical College at Belgachia, which also affords facilities for higher medical education, has now succeeded in obtaining affiliation up to the final M.B. examination of the Calcutta University, thanks largely to the liberal financial assistance afforded to it by Government.

6. The School of Tropical Medicine at Calcutta was completed four years ago, but could not be opened on account of conditions arising out of the war, and this has been among the most unfortunate results of the dislocation of the Department. In 1917 it was decided that the school, which was originally designed to teach only for the diploma in Tropical Medicine, should be combined with a new Institute of Hygiene, thus rendering necessary the construction of additional buildings. Revised proposals for the increased staff and for an extended syllabus required for the combined institution are now under the consideration of the Government of India, and it is hoped that there will be little further delay in opening the school and the Carmichael Hospital for Tropical Diseases attached to it. Research work will also be started shortly in connection with the school, out of the funds generously contributed by the Indian Tea, Jute and Mining Associations and certain private firms and gentlemen.

7. A scheme has also been drawn up for the establishment of a Dental School to be attached to the Calcutta Medical College, involving the construction of buildings at an estimated cost of Rs. 3,66,000. The work will be taken up as soon as funds are forthcoming.

8. The arrangements introduced in 1912, for holding post-graduate courses in the Government medical schools for the benefit of private doctors working in local fund dispensaries continued, and during the last three years 23 medical practitioners employed in District Board and Municipal dispensaries attended the class opened for them at the Campbell Medical School. A scheme for the post-graduate training of civil assistant surgeons and sub-assistant surgeons in place of the existing departmental examinations for promotion is under consideration.

9. The supervision and training of the nursing staff at the Presidency General Hospital was, as usual, undertaken by the Sisters of the Community of St. John the Baptist, and at the Medical College Hospitals by a lady superintendent assisted by five senior nursing sisters all trained in England. The training of Indian nurses under the scheme inaugurated by Lady Carmichael was continued in two institutions, viz., the Sambhunath Pandit Hospital and the Charteris Hospital at Kalimpong, the course at the Darjeeling Victoria Hospital being discontinued. A similar arrangement for training Indian nurses is being made at the Mitford Hospital, Dacca.

10. The work of the Serological Department at the Calcutta Medical College is steadily increasing, and in order to cope with this increase, the Government of India have lately sanctioned the appointment of two additional assistants, one for medico-legal work and the other for carrying out the diagnosis of syphilis by the Wasserman reaction. This department has suffered severely by the untimely death of the distinguished serologist, Lt.-Colonel W. D. Sutherland, C.I.E., I.M.S., who had been in charge of the department from its establishment.

11. Calcutta Hospitals.—Though all the Government hospitals in Calcutta are more or less overcrowded, incurables and permanent cripples always occupy a considerable number of beds, especially at the Campbell Hospital. The establishment of a separate hospital for incurables in Calcutta has become a matter of urgent necessity and the matter is receiving attention. The want of a convalescent home near the city to relieve the pressure on the Medical College and other hospitals has also been brought to notice. Another long-felt need is the provision of a suitable infectious diseases hospital. In 1917 a committee of six members was appointed by Government to consider the matter and to select a site outside municipal limits. After much delay, the committee came to the conclusion that two hospitals for the treatment of infectious diseases are required in Calcutta, one for the northern and the other for the southern part of the city, although the former should take precedence. The co-operation of the Calcutta Corporation has recently been sought.

The scheme of having honorary medical officers on the staffs of the Sambhunath Pandit and Mayo Hospitals continues to prove satisfactory. The Howrah General Hospital has also recently enlisted the honorary services of two independent medical practitioners, who are reported to be rendering good service. The system of appointing medical men outside the ranks of Government service to the house appointments of the Medical College Hospitals has not, however, proved a success, and it has now been decided to appoint civil assistant surgeons to the senior posts, the junior appointments being held, as before, by private medical men.

The expenditure, especially on Government institutions, shows a considerable increase during the period under review in comparison with that of the preceding three years. This increase is due mainly to the high cost of diet, clothing, medical stores, dressing materials, the enhancement of the pay of establishments, the construction of certain important buildings and the acquisition of land required for expansion, but these ever-growing demands absorb a large proportion of the provincial resources, in view of which mufassal wants are apt to come off badly. Amongst the projects undertaken during the last three years, the following are the most important, viz :—

	Rs.
Acquisition of land for the extension of the compound of the Medical College Hospitals	8,66,160
Acquisition of land for the new Eye Hospital ...	1,66,494
Construction of servants' quarters, Medical College Hospital	4,79,786
Construction of servants' quarters, Campbell Hospital ...	1,39,512
Construction of a tuberculosis ward at the Medical College Hospitals	41,593
Purchase of 3, Lee Road, for quarters of the nursing superintendent and supervising nurses of the Sambhunath Pandit Hospital	90,125
Acquisition of land for students' hostels at the Medical College	7,05,000
Improvements at the Campbell Hospital	1,97,591
Grants-in-aid to the Carmichael Medical College ...	5,00,000 (in addition to the annual recurring grant of Rs. 50,000)

New nurses' quarters and the Eye Hospital are at present under construction at the Medical College, and it is hoped that the much needed extension of the Eden Hospital will be shortly commenced.

The total cost of the upkeep of the Calcutta Hospitals amounted to Rs. 66,61,090 in the three years under notice as compared with Rs. 44,23,748 in the preceding three years, rising from Rs. 16,42,995 in 1917 to Rs. 21,14,443 in 1918, and Rs. 29,03,660 in 1919. The total receipts of all classes of institutions amounted to Rs. 70,57,079 during the three years, of which Government contributed Rs 50,71,040, or 71·87 per cent., as compared with Rs. 30,17,242, or 67·5 per cent., in the previous triennium. Of the amount contributed by Government Rs. 46,38,463 was on account of the upkeep of Government institutions, against Rs. 27,88,411 in the preceding three years. The amount of subscriptions and donations received from the public was Rs. 1,20,267 in 1917, Rs. 1,50,237 in 1918 and Rs. 60,692 in 1919, or 6·96, 6·60 and 1·98 per cent., respectively, of the total receipts, the last year showing a most disappointing decline. The obligation of contributing liberally towards these charitable institutions is but inadequately met by the Calcutta public, and there is ample scope for greater private liberality than has hitherto been displayed.

The total number of in-door patients treated at the Calcutta Hospitals increased from 95,740 to 107,632 during the triennium, and the out-door patients from 1,095,483 to 1,230,994, i. e., the out-door attendance exceeded the figures for the previous triennium by 135,511. These increases are to be attributed partly to the prevalence of epidemic diseases, e.g., influenza and small-pox. The number of beds available in these hospitals, viz., 2,385 during the last triennium, against 2,323 beds available during the previous three years, shows a slight increase. The nursing arrangements at the various hospitals continued to be satisfactory, though modern economic conditions led to considerable improvements in the prospects of the staff. The Medical College and the Presidency General Hospitals are, however, in need of more nurses for the new extensions, but they cannot be appointed until additional quarters are built for them and more money is forthcoming to meet the extra cost involved. The provision of proper nursing is absolutely essential to the efficiency of these institutions, and failing greater public support they cannot but be severely handicapped.

12. Hospitals and Dispensaries outside Calcutta.—The triennium under notice opened with 700 hospitals and dispensaries outside Calcutta. Altogether 77 new dispensaries came into existence during the three years and 12 were closed. Of the 765 institutions thus remaining at the close of the triennium, 19 were State public, 46 State special, 408 local fund, 87 private aided, 153 private non-aided and 52 railway dispensaries. In spite of this increase the number of dispensaries in the mufassal still fails to keep pace with the demand for medical assistance. The urgency of the matter has on more than one occasion been brought to the attention of District Boards, and the Governor in Council trusts that they will continue energetically their efforts to establish new hospitals and dispensaries in the areas in which medical relief is still not available.

An annual average of 6,471,403 out-door and 69,620 in-door patients were treated in mufassal institutions, compared with 5,725,611 and 61,402 during the previous triennium. The nursing arrangements in these hospitals are generally very defective and, except in a few instances, are still left to the relatives of patients or to the hospital dressers, compounders, and ward coolies. Want of funds is the chief obstacle in the way of remedying this very serious defect.

There was a marked increase in the cost of upkeep of the hospitals and dispensaries in the mufassal, as in Calcutta, due to similar causes. The total expenditure of all State public (class I), local fund (class III) and private aided (class IV) hospitals and dispensaries outside Calcutta amounted to Rs. 40,93,332 during the triennium under review, as compared with Rs. 35,02,595 in the previous three years, while the total receipts amounted to Rs. 42,63,781, against Rs. 36,83,664. The Government contributions formed 12·66 per cent. of the total income in 1917, 11·28 per cent. in 1918 and 12·82 per cent. in 1919, while local fund contributions amounted to 40·10 per cent., 42·10 per cent. and 42·88 per cent., respectively, of the total income of those years. The public subscriptions and donations received during the last three years show an increase from Rs. 2,67,595 in 1917 to Rs. 2,85,989 in 1919 (or 18·41 per cent. of the total income), but they are still lamentably inadequate to permit of these institutions being placed upon a satisfactory footing. In fact the finances of mufassal hospitals are at present in an exceedingly precarious position. Recent enhancements in the cost of nearly everything have seriously embarrassed work, and instances of full use failing to be made, for pecuniary reasons, even of the insufficient number of beds which exist, are by no means few. The experiment was initiated on a small scale of subsidising private practitioners in order to induce them to settle in the interior, and it should be capable of expansion with advantage.

13. Leprosy.—This disease is treated chiefly in the three leper asylums at Gobra, Raniganj and Bankura. The first is maintained by Government, while the other two are under the Mission to Lepers, helped by Government. The scale of capitation grants paid from provincial revenues for adult lepers treated in the last two asylums was raised from Re. 1-8 to Rs. 4 per head per mensem with effect from April 1919, and that for the untainted children of lepers to Rs. 2 per child. The Gobra Leper Asylum had an annual average population of 396, while the population at the Raniganj and Bankura asylums averaged 317 and 176 a year respectively.

The Lepers Act has been amended so as to widen the definition of a statutory leper. The arrangements at present existing in the leper asylums are not up to date, while the accommodation provided therein is also insufficient. A more satisfactory way of dealing with the problem is to open large leper colonies or settlements, and the question of establishing a leper colony is engaging the attention of Government. The difficulty will be mainly financial.

14. The thanks of Government are due to Major-General Robinson and all the officers under him, especially the few remaining in the Indian Medical Service, who uncomplainingly have borne the strain of the last three years. Civil assistant surgeons had unique opportunities of showing their worth as officiating civil surgeons and gave satisfaction in many respects. They also got ample opportunities of volunteering for temporary commissions in the Indian Medical Service, and those who did so have reaped valuable experience. Altogether 17 permanent and 20 temporary officers of this class have been awarded temporary commissions since the outbreak of the war, and it is satisfactory to note that two officers, one permanent and one temporary, were granted permanent commissions in the Indian Medical Service last year.

By order of the Governor in Council.

ESTABLISHMENTS.

ORGANIZATION AND RECRUITMENT FOR THE INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE.

Delhi, the 1st December 1920.

RESOLUTION.

The orders of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India on the recommendations of the Royal Commission on the Public Services in India relating to the pay and pension of the Indian Civil Service have already been announced by the Government of India in previous Resolutions, namely :—

(1) Resolution No. 1918, dated the 20th November 1919.
(2) Resolution No. 286, dated the 13th February 1920 (as modified by Resolution No. 919, dated the 4th May 1920).
(3) Resolution No. 1260, dated the 24th June 1920.

The decisions which have been taken on certain other proposals relating to the Indian Civil Service are set forth below.

2. Organization.—It has been decided, as recommended by the Public Services Commission, to maintain the existing organization of the civil services. The division into an Imperial service and a Provincial service is based on the work for the performance of which the two services are recruited and not on any artificial distinction. The evidence recorded by the Commission disclosed no desire for any change. In future the Imperial branch will be known as the Indian Civil Service and the Provincial branch will bear the name of the province in which its members are serving, e.g., Bengal Civil Service.

3. The recruitment of military officers to fill Civil Service posts in Burma will cease from the date of the present Resolution.

4. A revised list of superior appointments is annexed to the Resolution. It has been approved by the Secretary of State, but it has been compiled primarily for recruitment purposes and does not purport to be final in any way.

*See Appendix I.

5. Methods of recruitment.—Recruitment for the Indian Civil Service (including appointments to posts ordinarily held by members of the Indian Civil Service) will in future be effected by five methods :—

(1) open competitive examination in London,
(2) separate competitive examination in India,
(3) nomination in India,
(4) promotion from the Provincial Civil Service,
(5) appointment from the Bar.

6. Open competitive examination in London.—This examination will be the main channel of entry to the service and will be open to all as heretofore subject to the reservation that in future Indians successful in this examination will not be allotted to Burma nor successful Burmans to India. The exact conditions of future examinations cannot at present be announced as the details of the syllabus are still under consideration, but the Secretary of State has been in consultation with the Civil Service Commissioners and with the Universities in the United Kingdom with regard to the age of entry and the period of probation, and has arrived at the conclusion that it is in the best interests of India that the age limits for admission to the examination shall be 21 to 23 (reckoned from 1st August in the year in which the examination is held) and that the period of probation shall be two years. Before arriving at this decision the Secretary of State in Council carefully considered other possible alternatives and in particular:—

(a) the proposal of the Royal Commission on the Public Services in India that the age limits should be 17 to 19 on the 1st January followed by three years' probation, and

(b) a proposal that the age limits should be 17 to 20, followed by two years' probation.

The reasons for and against the various alternatives are succinctly stated in the extract from the report of the Civil Service Commissioners which is appended to this Resolution. In deciding on the adoption of age limits of 21 to 23, followed by two years' probation, the Secretary of State in Council has been influenced by the facts—

* See Appendix II.

(1) that it is the solution which was favoured by the Government of India in referring the question for the consideration of local Governments in January 1919, and by a majority of the local Governments in reply to that reference;

(2) that it is recommended by the Civil Service Commissioners, who are his statutory advisers in such matters, and

(3) that the Universities in the United Kingdom are practically unanimous in favour of it.

Moreover, public opinion in India is decidedly against the adoption of the school-leaving age limits which would in practice exclude many Indians from the open competition in England and in favour of the higher limits, as was evident from the discussion in the Imperial Legislative Council on 24th September 1917, on a Resolution deprecating acceptance of the Royal Commission's proposal.

The decisive consideration is the paramount necessity of securing for the Indian Civil Service officers of the highest possible quality. For this it is necessary to obtain men who have completed their university education, and have had in addition a thorough special training such as a well organised course of probation lasting for two years will afford. The details of the course of probation are now under consideration by the Civil Service Commissioners, but it has been decided that law and jurisprudence shall form an important part of the training. The study of Indian languages (vernacular and classical), of Indian history, and of economics with special reference to Indian conditions, will also be included in the course. Details both of the probationary course, and of the syllabus of the open competition will be announced later, when they have been finally settled.

7. Separate competitive examination in India.—This has been accepted as the main source of Indian recruitment. The institution of such an examination is provided for by section 97 of the Government of India Act. The conditions under which the examination will be held have not yet been determined by the Secretary of State who is in consultation on this subject with the Civil Service Commissioners. They will be announced later. But it has been decided that the age limits will ordinarily be 21 to 23 on 1st August of the year in which the competition is held, as in the case of the London examination; the candidates thus selected (as well as any who may be nominated in India under paragraph 8 of this Resolution) will be sent to the United Kingdom to join the candidates selected at the open competition in London in their two years' course of probation. It has been decided that of the recruits selected in India for the service (exclusive of those promoted from the Provincial Service or directly appointed from the Bar) at least 67 per cent. will be obtained through this examination.

8. Nomination.—Nomination is provided for in section 97 (6) of the Government of India Act in order to secure to some extent representation of the various provinces and communities in India. It will not of necessity take place every year but only when the results of the competitive examination in India fail to give the representation required. The following procedure will be adopted. When the number of vacancies to be filled in India in any year by direct recruitment (i.e., exclusive of promotions from the Provincial Service and appointments from the Bar) has been settled, 67 per cent. of these will be announced as open for competition. If the distribution of successes in the examination turns out to be such as will meet the requirements of the various provinces and communities resort to nomination will be unnecessary. The vacancies held in reserve will be filled as far as possible by selection from among candidates who sat for the competitive examination and attained a certain qualifying standard. Failing this, they will be filled by nomination. Rules relating to nomination are being framed under section 97 (6) of the Government of India Act and will be announced as early as possible.

9. Promotion from the Provincial Service.—The Commission recommended some reduction in the number of "listed" posts, but the Government of India have decided not to reduce the chances of promotion open to officers of the Provincial Service until they are in a position to appreciate more accurately than is possible at present the effect of the rules now framed regarding direct recruitment to the Indian Civil Service in India. It is probable indeed that in some provinces the number of such appointments will actually be increased.

10. Officers promoted from the Provincial Civil Service to hold posts ordinarily held by members of the Indian Civil Service will, in future, have the same opportunities of promotion as those who have been directly recruited. In regard to their status vis-a-vis the regular members of the Indian Civil Service, the Government of India have decided to institute or, where they exist, to retain Provincial Commissions on the lines recommended by the Public Services Commission in paragraph 3 of Annexure X of their Report and to include in such Commissions not only all members of the Indian Civil Service however selected, but also promoted members of the Provincial Civil Service and members of the Bar appointed to hold superior appointments ordinarily held by members of the Indian Civil Service. The two latter classes of officers cannot be admitted to the Civil Service itself, but will, from the date of their appointment, take rank with Civil Service officers and will be eligible with them on their merits for all posts on the Civil Service cadre.

11. Appointments from the Bar.—Local Governments already have power under the rules laid down in the Home Department Notification No. 598, dated the 21st June 1918, to appoint persons who are not members of the Provincial Service up to one-fourth of the total number of listed appointments. This power will be utilized by them as an experimental measure to appoint District Judges direct from the Bar. It is hoped ultimately to fill not less than 40 posts in this way, should qualified men be available. Members of the Bar will, however, be appointed to posts in excess of 25 per cent. of the total number of such appointments, only as new posts are created, and with due regard to the claims of existing members of the Civil Services. Thus the rights of these officers will be duly safeguarded as was expressly provided for by section 36 (2) of the Government of India Act, 1919; at the same time there will be no reduction in the number of posts open to men promoted from the Provincial Civil Service. Should the experiment prove successful (and on this point the opinion of High Courts will be ascertained from time to time) the full number, i.e., 40, will eventually be made available for persons from the Bar. For the purposes of these appointments, Vakils and Advocates of High Courts and Pleaders of Chief Courts will be eligible as well as Barristers.

12. Percentage of Indians in the Service.—After full consideration and with the approval of the Secretary of State, the Government of India have decided to adopt the prportion suggested in paragraph 317 of the Joint Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms. This proportion of 33 per cent., rising by 1½ per cent., annually for 10 years to a maximum of 48 per cent., will be taken as an all-round figure to cover total Indian recruitment from all sources including promotion from the Provincial Service and appointment from the Bar. The number of Indians to be recruited in India by examination and nomination will be fixed each year after taking into account the number of Indians recruited in other ways including the open competition in London.

The direct recruitment of Indians for 1920 has already been partially given effect to by the nominations already made under the rules issued under the Indian Civil Service (Temporary Provisions) Act, and the candidates selected are already undergoing their probation in England. Although the candidates under these rules were selected at the end of 1919, the calculation of the number to be appointed was based on a consideration of vacancies that had accumulated from 1915 to 1920 inclusive. These candidates were selected by nomination. It was intended that any further appointments to be made in India should, so far as possible, be effected by means of a competitive examination as explained in paragraph 7 above, but the Civil Service Commissioners, who are engaged in working out the scheme for this examination, have reported that it will not be possible to hold the examination in 1921 in time for candidates selected to commence their probation in England in October 1921. It has been decided, therefore, that the number of Indians required to be recruited for 1921 according to the percentages approved above should be obtained by nomination as in 1919. The rules required to effect this are under consideration and will be published as soon as possible. It is hoped that the scheme of examination in India will have been settled, and the rules under section 97 (6), referred to in paragraph 8 above, approved in time to enable the first competition in India to be held in the cold weather of 1921-22 and the candidates selected to commence their probation in England in October 1922.

13. Training in India.—Subject to the general considerations mentioned below, full discretion is left to local Governments and Administrations in the matter of framing rules for departmental examinations and training. On arrival in India officers should be trained under the supervision of a suitable District Officer who should not only have the special qualities required for training junior officers but also the time to devote to this object. Much valuable assistance can often be given him in this matter by a senior Assistant. For the first year too much court work should not be prescribed and departmental examinations should be more practical. The test of proficiency in law should be more and more limited to an examination of a man's ability, with the Act and Rules at his disposal, readily to find the law governing a particular case and to apply it intelligently. The tests in the vernaculars should be stiffened and should be directed chiefly to ensuring that officers are able to converse in them with fluency and to read and write them with accuracy.

14. Special training of officers for the judicial branch.—Officers may be definitely selected for the judicial branch at any stage between five and eight years' service. As soon as they are so selected, they should undergo a period of training for 18 months in the posts of Munsif and Subordinate Judge, or Additional District Judge, and thereafter if the High Court so recommends, they may be granted study leave to the United Kingdom for the purpose of reading in barristers' chambers and passing the Bar examinations under such rules as may from time to time be prescribed by Government. Ordinarily, this leave will not be granted to any officer after the twelfth year of service

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all local Governments and Administrations, and that it be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India for general information.

APPENDIX II.

Extract from Report of Civil Service Commissioners, dated 7th July 1920, on the question of the age limits for admission to the Open Competition in England for the Indian Civil Service, and the period of probation.

The position of the Civil Service Commissioners in this matter is that of statutory advisers to the Secretary of State in Council. They endeavour, in formulating their advice, to take into account the field of candidates that is likely to be obtained under specified conditions of competition, the educational fitness which candidates may be expected to reach on their appointment under the various systems suggested, and the conditions of probationary training which are likely to result from selection at various points of life. They give due, but not excessive, weight to the educational interests of this country, and they endeavour also to take into account the public interests of India, but under this last head Mr. Montagu will have many more competent advisers. I am to review the three alternative suggestions and to state the advantages and draw backs attaching to each as seen by the Commissioners.

(1) Age limits 17—19 on the 1st January: probation three years. This is the proposition of the Royal Commission on the Indian Services It has great and obvious merits. It secures that men shall go out to India at about the age of 21 or 22, when their constitution is consolidated and before they may have got too fixed in their opinions and their outlook. It secures a generous period of preparation, which could, in the opinion of the Civil Service Commissioners, give all the advantages of a complete University course.

But these age limits, as the Commissioners are informed, would not suit Indian candidates in India, and there is obvious objection to selection at different ages in the two countries. Moreover, the selection of boys at this age by open competition must be a precarious matter. India would undoubtedly get a larger proportion of bad bargains with earlier than with later selection. Moreover, once selected the candidate would be committed to a specific course of study which would fit him for India but not for any home profession. If, as would be desirable, a relentless weeding out of the less satisfactory candidates took place throughout the three years of probation, many of those who had been successful in the open competition would find themselves side-tracked and compelled to begin their studies over again or to go out into the world heavily handicapped. Without such a process of weeding out there will be no sufficient motive for the less energetic candidates to pursue their studies persistently and the morale of the body of the candidates would be impaired. Under this system it is not likely that the Indian Service would get so many trustworthy men as if the selection were made later. On the whole, therefore, the Commissioners with great reluctance are inclined to advise the rejection of this alternative. In coming to this conclusion they are not seriously influenced by any effects that might be anticipated on education in this country; but, far from sharing the views of the Incorporated Association of Headmasters, they consider that a competition of so great importance among all the youth of the country between the ages of 17½ and 19½ would be a calamity rather than a benefit to the schools and the school-boys.

(2) Age limits 17—20: probation two years. This propositiou was universally condemned at the Conference. It seems to have all the objections which can be brought against the first suggestion. It also cuts right across the lines of British education. Covering, as it does, both the concluding years of school-life and the first year or two of University life, candidates will be compelled either to conclude their school-life prematurely or to resort to crammers, and under their tuition continue such instruction as is suitable to school years a year after it should have been terminated. It would not be possible to arrange a competitive examination which would be equally suited to boys of 17 and men of nearly 20. This consideration appears to be mainly educational; it is not so in fact, for the resulting conditions must prejudicially affect both the field of candidates and the quality of those selected. The Commissioners cannot recommend the adoption of this proposal.

(3) Age limits 21—23: probation two years. This proposition has the support of the minority of the Viceroy's Council. Having regard to the importance which is obviously attached in India to securing candidates whilst still young, flexible and teachable, and having regard also to the fact that many of those ho ding high places in India must have been themselves selected at the earlier age, the Commissioners think that the view of the minority must have been formed under the influence of very important considerations. The Commissioners are aware that just before his retirement Lord Morley had come to the same decision as the minority. At the last moment he held his hand, and the result was the appointment of the Royal Commission on Indian Public Services.

The adoption of these limits of age with two years' probation will not result in the commencement of the duties of Indian civilians at an earlier age than at present. On the other hand, by placing the age limits a year earlier some disturbance will be caused to the ordinary studies, at any rate of Oxford candidates. This fact was put forward with emphasis, though with moderation, by the Oxford representative, who nevertheless clearly expressed on behalf of his University preference for this option out of the three. The other Universities, almost without exception, actually preferred the age limits 21—23 to those 22—24 Besides Oxford, Cambridge and Manchester would prefer that the age limits of 21—23 should be reckoned from a governing date of the 1st Jauuary. If the examination continued to be held in August as hitherto, the effect of taking the 1st January as the governing date would be to make the actual age at the time of examination seven months higher, and the result would be that candidates on the average would go out in future seven months older than at present The Commissioners are of opinion that if the age limits 21—23 are adopted the governing date should be 1st August, since that date is the most convenient for the examination. It is possible that in the future young men will tend to go to Universities earlier, but that must be uncertain. Great as is the importance of Oxford and excellent as is the Oxford four years' course, the Commissioners do not consider it desirable that Indian civilians should go out to India any later in life than they do at present.

Having stated the only objections to this third option which appear to the Commissioners weighty, the advantages may now be set forth From almost all the Universities of the United Kingdom candidates may appear at the examination under these conditions having completed a full Honours Course. Even at Oxford they might be expected to have completed a three years' course, and in some cases a full four years. Men will be selected, so far as competitive examination allows, to the best possible advantage at the time, that is, when the full results of school and college education can be most certainly ascertained. They will be mature and ready to take the responsibilities of maturity. Moreover, this option, if chosen, will allow for two years' probationary instruction, which, so far as the acquirement of knowledge is concerned, should be quite as valuable as a three years' probation given by the scheme of the Royal Commission. Again the Commissioners understand it to be possible, and even desirable, to assign to the Indian candidates in India the same limits of age, viz., 21—23 at entry.

Conclusion.—After weighing all the circumstances, the Commissioners advise the Secretary of State in Council that of the three plans that which fixes the age limits at 21—23 and allows for two years of probationary instruction has the greatest advantages and the fewest drawbacks, and in coming to this conclusion they are almost entirely influenced by considerations affecting the welfare of India. If they had felt it their duty to consider the educational advantages and disadvantages of the three options so far as this country is concerned, the balance of advantage would lean even more emphatically in the same direction.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

No. 2404.—The following despatch by His Excellency General Sir Charles Carmichael Monro, G.C.B., G.C.S.I., G.C.M.G., A.-D.-C., late Commander-in-Chief in India, on the operations in Waziristan, 1919-20, is published for general information:—

Dated Simla, the 1st August 1920.

From—HIS EXCELLENCY GENERAL SIR CHARLES CARMICHAEL MONRO, G.C.B., G.C.S.I., G.C.M.G., A.-D.-C., Commander-in-Chief in India,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Army Department.

I have the honour to submit herewith, for the information of the Government of India, a report on the operations in Waziristan during the period 3rd November 1919 to 7th May 1920.

INTRODUCTORY.

2. I propose first to refer briefly to the events leading up to the operations with which this despatch deals.

3. As was anticipated, when the Afghans, in May 1919, invaded our territory they were actively supported by the tribes of Waziristan. The latter had been led to believe that our military weakness would enable them to secure an easy victory and that we should, in consequence, be compelled to evacuate Waziristan.

During May 1919 their resistance had been strengthened and their moral raised by the successes they achieved against the Militia, by the capture from the latter of rifles and small arm ammunition in considerable quantities and by our evacuation of certain posts in the vicinity of Wana and Sarwekai. These events have already been brought to your notice in my despatch, dated 1st November 1919, which dealt with the operations against Afghanistan.

4. The conclusion of the peace negotiations with Afghanistan on the 8th August 1919 did not affect the situation in Waziristan. In fact, at this time, the hostility of the tribes towards us was increased by a widespread belief that the British Government had made a compact with the Amir to transfer their country to Afghanistan six months after the peace had been signed.

On the 8th August, the most westerly positions held by our troops in Waziristan were, in the Tochi Valley, Miranshah and Dardoni and in the Derajat area Jandola on the Tank Zam and Murtaza on the Gumal. The Waziristan Force under the command of Major-General S. H. Climo, C.B., D.S.O., was, then, directly under Army Headquarters and remained so throughout the operations.

5. During the operations against Afghanistan considerations of transport prevented a concerted movement into Waziristan but, as soon as hostilities with the former country ceased, it became necessary to consider how best to bring the Waziristan tribes to book for the many wanton attacks they had made on our troops.

Owing to the heat in the Tochi Valley and in the low-lying country of the Derajat area it was not advisable to carry out operations at that period of the year. Time was also required to make the necessary preparations and further, the men of Indian units, who had been separated from their families for to prolonged period, were urgently in need of leave. It was decided therefore to wait until the cold season before beginning punitive measures.

6. The plan determined on was to summon the Tochi Wazirs and Mahsuds to a jirga* about the beginning of November when our terms would be announced. As regards the Tochi Wazirs, the troops would advance to Datta Khel, 25 miles west of Miranshah, where the reply to our terms would be received, if the reply was unfavourable an intensive aerial bombardment and punitive measures by land would be undertaken to enforce their acceptance.

As regards the Mahsuds a date would be given on which the reply was to be received. If the terms were refused the whole of the Mahsud country would be subjected to intensive aerial bombardment. If, after the aerial bombardment, they still refused to accept the terms, punitive operations on land would begin.

The terms first stated that there was no truth in the rumour that their country would be handed over to the Amir of Afghanistan and then demanded that the tribes should agree to the following conditions :—

(a) The British Government was to have the right to make roads, build posts and station troops wherever it should deem necessary or desirable in any part of the "Protected Areas."†

(b) All rifles, ammunition, bombs and other military equipment taken since May 1st, 1919, were to be returned.

(c) The tribes were not to interfere with the movement of troops or convoys in their country nor to molest aeroplanes or their occupants when flying over their country.

(d) All unpaid allowances were to be forfeited. No allowances were to be granted until the British Government was satisfied with the good behaviour of the tribes.

(e) Each tribe was to deposit as a guarantee of good faith 200 rifles, which would be returned within a period of twelve months, subject to the continued good behaviour of the tribes.

(f) The Tochi Wazirs were to pay a fine of Rs. 50,000 and the Mahsuds Rs. 10,000.

In the event of the terms not being accepted the plan was, first to deal with the Tochi Wazirs and then with the Mahsuds.

7. Major-General S. H. Climo, C.B., D.S.O., who was placed in command of the operations, had at his disposal, both for the striking force and for guarding the Lines of Communication, the following troops :—

52nd Wing Royal Air Force.
4 Indian Cavalry Regiments.
1 Section of 4·5 Howitzers (for the Tochi Column only).
No. 6 British Mountain Battery (for the Derajat Column only).
3 Indian Mountain Batteries.
3 Companies Sappers and Miners.
6 Infantry Brigades.
4 Additional Battalions.

*Jirga—Assembly of the Headmen of the Tribes.
†Protected Areas—Certain Provinces of the country administered by our political officers.

The total strength of the force on the 13th November was—

Combatant Troops	29,256
Non-combatants	33,987

The troops which composed the force and their distribution are given in Appendix No. 1 attached to this despatch.

8. As already mentioned in paragraph 4 the peace with Afghanistan had no effect on the situation in Waziristan. From the 9th August 1919, to the beginning of November 1919, the tribes displayed great activity. Gangs, which varied in strength from 70 to 600, carried out numerous raids into our territory and attacked posts and parties of our troops. A few instances will suffice to show their boldness and initiative.

Tank, 14 miles north-west of Dera Ismail Khan, was attacked by the Mahsuds on three different occasions. The first time the raiding party escaped with loot to the value of Rs. 15,000: on the second occasion they were driven off, losing 6 killed, many wounded, and 1 prisoner. The third time they were also driven off and suffered many casualties. At the end of August a gang, which had raided Isa Khel on the Kalabagh-Bannu Railway, 50 miles south-east of Bannu, attacked, on their way back, a Labour Corps Camp near Sirai Gambila, 25 miles south-east of Bannu. They killed 15 of the Labour Corps and wounded 14, but were themselves eventually driven off with the loss of 15 killed, 50 wounded and 2 prisoners.

On another occasion the piquets at Saidgi, 14 miles west of Bannu, were attacked by 250 Wazirs, who were driven off with a loss of 35 killed and wounded.

Reprisals either from the air or by land were undertaken by our troops and considerable casualties inflicted on the enemy.

The casualties sustained by the Waziristan Force during the period 9th August 1919 to 2nd November 1919 were 139 killed and 159 wounded.

9. The operations from 3rd November 1919 fall under two heads—namely, the advance to Datta Khel in the Tochi Wazir country, and the operations in the Derajat Area against the Mahsuds.

THE ADVANCE TO DATTA KHEL.

10. On the 9th November 1919 the Tochi Wazir jirga assembled at Miranshah to receive our terms. Except for the absence of certain maliks at Kabul, it was fully representative.

The maliks were informed that our advance to Datta Khel would begin at once and that their reply to our terms would be received there on the 17th November.

On the 10th November, notices were dropped by aeroplanes in the Tochi Wazir country, warning all the tribsemen that non-acceptance of our terms would be followed by immediate air operations. They were also warned that, if they declined to accept our terms, their women and children should be moved to places of safety.

11. For the advance, two infantry brigades, with attached troops, under the command of Major-General A. Skeen, C.M.G., formed the striking force which was known as the Tochi Column.

The remainder of Waziristan Force was employed in guarding the Lines of Communication. Railheads were at Bannu in the north and Darya Khan in the south. From the latter place supplies, etc., were taken across the Indus to Dera Ismail Khan, and from there by Decauville to Tank. The value of a Decauville line over open country was again demonstrated. Its carrying capacity was 200 tons of stores daily, or the equivalent of one thousand camel loads.

The force was not only responsible for the defence of communications west of Bannu and Tank, but also for the whole area between these places and the Indus as far as, Kalabagh on the north 60 miles east of Bannu, and Dera Ismail Khan on the south. This necessitated the protection of some 300 miles of communications.

As regards the 52nd Wing, R.A.F., the total machines available were :—at Mianwali east of the Indus, a detachment of 3 D. H. 10's and a flight of 9 D. H. 9 A.'s, and at Bannu and Tank a squadron of 18 Bristol Fighters.

* Headman of a tribe.

12. The Tochi Column was concentrated at Miranshah by the 8th November, with a strength of—

Officers and other ranks	8,444
Followers	6,464

1,382 horses and equipment animals.

The transport consisted of 2,288 mules and 5,087 camels.

On the 13th November the Column began the advance to Datta Khel in three echelons.

The first echelon which comprised the bulk of the force, formed the main column. The second echelon, composed of two battalions a field company Sappers and Miners, and an armoured motor battery, was formed for the purpose of improving the road during the advance. The third echelon, which consisted of an infantry brigade with attached troops, was detailed to guard the road and expedite the collection of supplies at Datta Khel.

The composition of the three echelons is shown in detail in Appendix No. 2.

13. The advance encountered no opposition. On the 14th November, the first echelon reached Datta Khel, the second Degan and the third Boya. Permanent piquets for the protection of the road between Miranshah and Datta Khel were established without incident. A ten days' reserve of supplies, ammunition, and stores for the whole column was moved from Darboni to Datta Khel, in readines to carry out punitive operations if our terms were refused.

14. Major-General S. H. Climo reached Datta Khel on the 17th November, and met the jirga on the same day. The jirga which was fully representative, except for the Madda Khel and two minor sub-tribes in the Kaitu Valley, accepted all our terms. The Madda Khel inhabit the Kazha Valley, north-west of Datta Khel and are a sub-tribe of the Tochi Wazirs. As they had not submitted by the 18th, they were bombed next day by 17 aeroplanes. This had the desired effect. All their representatives made complete submission the same evening.

The two minor sub-tribes—the Titti Madda Khel and the Hassan Khel—live in the Kaitu Valley, 20 miles north-east or Miranshah. They were not dealt with until the middle of December when they were bombed from the air. They then quickly accepted our terms and made verbal submission.

15. During the time the Tochi Column was at Datta Khel only a few shots were fired into the camp. On the 25th November the withdrawal was begun and by the 26th the whole column was back at Dardoni.

The lack of opposition throughout the advance and withdrawal may be gauged by the fact that our total casualties amounted to one man killed.

THE OPERATIONS IN THE DERAJAT AREA.

16. I now turn to the negotiations with the Mahsuds and the subsequent punitive operations it was found necessary to undertake against them. On the 3rd November, the Mahsud jirga was summoned to assemble at Khirgi, 7 miles east of Jandola, to receive our terms.

This jirga, like that of the Tochi Wazirs, was fully representative except for certain of the leading maliks who were at Kabul.

The next day aeroplanes were despatched to drop similar warning notices over the Mahsud country to those dropped, at a later date, in the Tochi Wazir country.

On the 11th November, the date on which the reply to the terms was to be delivered by the Mahsuds, the jirga was attended by only a few maliks. As it was not representative and as there was obviously no intention of accepting the terms of the Government, Major-General Climo dismissed those present. At the same time, he warned them that operations from the air would begin at once and would be followed, in due course, by operations on land.

On the 13th November, and on subsequent days, the principal Mahsud villages, especially Kaniguram, Makin and Marobi, were bombed from the air. These operations were continued until the 21st November. As a result, the Mahsuds distributed their cattle and sheep into small herds which entailed a large increase in shepherds and watchers and prevented the assembly of any lashkar or large raiding party. For this reason the Derajat area was noticeably free from raids at a time when they might otherwise have been expected, as the striking column was in the Tochi Valley and we had definitely broken with the Mahsuds.

It soon became evident, however, that operations from the air, alone, would never force the Mahsuds to accept our terms.

17. In accordance therefore with the original plan, as soon as the withdrawal from Datta Khel was completed, orders were issued for punitive operations against the Mahsuds.

For these operations it was decided to use, as a striking force, the same troops that had composed the Tochi Column.

On the 27th November the Tochi Column was renamed the Derajat Column and on the same day began its march of 140 miles from Dardoni to the Derajat Area. Although Kaniguram is only some 30 miles in a direct line south of Datta Khel, there were several reasons against undertaking an advance into the Mahsud country in that direction. It would have entailed the crossing of the Razmak Narai—15 miles south-east of Datta Khel—a snow covered pass some 7,000 feet above sea level, and the construction of a camel road over difficult country. Besides, there were no suitable intermediate camping grounds for a force of the size of the striking column, and there was a great scarcity of water. It would also have meant the protection of about 95 miles of Lines of Communication from the railhead at Bannu. Further, it was hoped that the concentration of our striking force in the vicinity of Jandola, following on the air operations, would cause the Mahsuds to accept our terms and so make an advance into the heart of their country unnecessary.

It was therefore decided that the column should march to its concentration area viâ Bannu and Pezu.

By the 13th December the concentration of the Column on the line Tank-Jandola was completed and preparations for the advance up the Tank Zam were begun.

18. In order that the narrative of these operations may be understood, it is necessary to explain shortly the policy which was adopted to secure the Lines of Communication.

Under modern conditions, to maintain a column the size of the striking force, daily convoys of pack animals had to be despatched along the Lines of Communication, and their protection was rendered more difficult owing to the abundance of modern rifles in the hands of the tribesmen. The large number of troops required to ensure adequate protection by means of escorts prohibited their use. A system was therefore introduced of establishing posts with permanent piquets, at fairly close intervals, on the most commanding ground on each side of the tracks used. These posts were strongly built for all round defence, provided with traverses and protected with thick barbed wire entanglements. Their construction led to the majority of the actions which took place during these operations. The full strength of the Derajat Column had, on occasions, to be employed to drive the enemy off the ground selected for the various piquets and then to cover and support the working parties whilst the defensive works were being constructed. Several days were often required to make the locality selected thoroughly strong against attack and, until its construction was completed, all the troops had to withdraw to camp each afternoon.

19. As convoys sometimes amounted to over 4,000 pack animals, it was necessary to improve and widen the track along which the advance was to take place, in order that the animals could march on a broad front. Otherwise, they had to move in single file, which so increased the length of the column, that it would have made the completion of a stage during daylight impossible.

For this reason, on the 11th December, to prepare for the advance, a force of two battalions and one section of mountain guns made good the Spinkai Raghza*—1½ miles north of Jandola Camp—and work on the road and on its defence was begun.

When the troops withdrew on the same afternoon the rearguard was attacked with determination, by some 100 tribesmen.

On the 12th and 13th December the work was continued. During these three days we sustained 46 casualties, chiefly from enemy snipers.

* Raghza—plateau.

As representatives of the tribesmen professed to be desirous of coming in Major-General Skeen interviewed them at Jandola on the 17th. While they were still in camp, a number of the enemy were seen closing in on our piquets and at 3-30 P.M., a determined attack was made against us. The attack was repulsed. In one locality a party of the enemy, in spite of fire from guns and machine guns at close range, forced back a covering party. We suffered 34 casualties while the enemy acknowledged the loss of 8 killed and 12 wounded.

20. The advance from Jandola began on the 18th December. On that day, the Mahsuds, estimated at 2,000 strong, were holding Sarai Ridge, two miles north-west of Jandola Camp while it was reported that 1,500 Wana Wazirs were in the valley of the Shahur, a stream which joins the Tank Zam 1½ miles west of Jandola.

The 68th Brigade (less 1½ battalions), with two sections of guns, under Brigadier-General J. L. R. Gordon, C.B., was ordered to make good the river route to Do Tak, two miles west of the Camp, in case it was required by the transport. This was accomplished without difficulty and the brigade returned to Jandola that afternoon.

The main column which consisted of:—

Columm Headquarters,

1 Squadron (less 1 troop) 21st Cavalry,

No. 6 British and No. 27, Indian Mountain Batteries,

55th Field Company Sappers and Miners,

67th Infantry Brigade,

2-19th Punjabis (from 68th Brigade),

3-34th Sikh Pioneers and attached troops, under Major-General Skeen advanced at 8 A.M., to clear the Sarkai Ridge and then to secure the Spinkai Ghash in order to cover the occupation of a camp on the Palosina Plain, three miles north-north-west of Jandola Camp. The enemy was soon driven off the Sarkai Ridge and by 1-30 P.M. the Spinkai Ghash was in our possession. The Mahsuds retired mainly up the Tank Zam pursued by our aeroplanes. By 4-30 P.M. the transport, which consisted of 2,330 mules and 2,750 camels, had reached the camp without incident. During the day our casualties amounted to 78.

21. It is proposed now to give a short description of the country south of Mandanna Kach, in order that the operations carried out during the next few days may be more easily understood, and also in order that some comprehension may be afforded of the difficulties of the terrain over which those operations took place.

The right or west bank of the Tank Zam, opposite the Palosina Plain, rises in steep cliffs to a small plateau, some 200 feet above the river bed. The north end of this plateau terminates in a rocky bluff, called Mandanna Hill, overlooking Mandanna Kach and the river to the north. The plateau, which is about 300 yards broad, is bounded on the west by a steep-sided ravine. This ravine starts from a tangled mass of broken ground known as "Broken Hill," 600 yards south-west of Mandanna Hill, and runs for about 2,000 yards in a south-easterly direction until it joins the Tank Zam.

On the west of the ravine is a ridge which forms the main feature in the vicinity. The southern end of this ridge consists of two features known as "Black and White Hill" and "Black and White Breasts." Going north along the ridge there are four decided features: a group of rocks which runs east and west and was known as "Red Rocks"; "Sandbag Hill" a rough and commanding point some 700 yards west of "Red Rocks"; "Comb Rocks" 200 yards north of "Sandbag Hill." The intervening space between "Sandbag Hill" and "Comb Rocks" comprises a steep drop of 150 feet, then an exposed strip of flat ground up to the foot of the latter. The fourth feature on the ridge was known as "Broken Hill," and covers Mandanna Hill from the south-west.

North of "Broken Hill," the ridge ends in an abrupt drop to "Pink Bowl" on the bank of the Tank Zam. The slopes of Tsappar Ghar, 3 to 4 miles west of Mandanna Kach, overlook the whole neighbourhood.

OPERATIONS IN THE VICINITY OF MANDANNA KACH.

22. On the 19th December a permanent piquet was established on Sarkai Ridge without oppositions. The same day a force, which consisted of two battalions of the 67th Brigade, crossed the river with the object of establishing a second permanent piquet on Mandanna Hill to cover our advance up the Tank Zam. The ravine immediately west of the plateau was cleared by shell fire and the troops rapidly seized "Red Rocks" and at 11 A.M. resumed their advance to capture "Comb Rocks," "Broken Hill" and "Mandanna Hill."

Although a certain amount of movement down the Tank Zam had been observed, there was nothing to indicate that any large numbers of the enemy were in the vicinity of "Comb Rocks." The original plan was to rush the ridge but it was soon discovered that the broken nature of the ground made this impossible. The right battalion of the attack, however, succeeded in capturing an important position under "Sandbag Hill," but owing to heavy casualties and determined attacks by large numbers of the enemy, it was unable to maintain the ground gained which was re-occupied by the enemy. The result of this was that the left battalion was outflanked and forced to withdraw. Meanwhile, the enemy, who had developed great strength, pressed back the whole line to the river, and in spite of stubborn resistance by isolated parties, forced our troops to re-cross to the east bank. The artillery, which covered the retirement, took full advantage of the good targets offered by the advancing enemy.

23. The next day the attack was resumed by the whole of the 67th Brigade. By 10 A.M. we had captured "Red Rocks" and the northern end of the plateau, and half an hour later, the eastern edge of "Comb Rocks" and Mandanna Hill were also in our possession. The co-operation of the Royal Air Force and the Artillery was most effective.

Work to put Mandanna Hill into a state of defence for the permanent piquet was begun at once. By the afternoon it was decided that the defences, though incomplete, were sufficiently far advanced to establish a piquet there for the night, and 100 rifles under a British officer were accordingly posted. The remaining troops were then withdrawn under the covering fire of guns and with aeroplane co-operation, and by 4-30 P.M. they were back across the river without sustaining a casualty during the withdrawal.

At 4-45 P.M. the Mandanna Hill piquet reported tribesmen collecting near the piquet, and at the same time a few of the enemy were seen running across the Tank Zam to the end of the Mandanna bluff. Shortly afterwards the piquet was attacked from the north and west. The British officer in command, with some of his men, charged the enemy coming from the west but he and his party were all killed. The rest of the piquet, disorganized by the loss of their officer, evacuated the hill and retired across the river to the camp. Our casualties for the 19th and 20th December amounted to 113 killed, including 5 British officers, and 200 wounded.

24 In accordance with a previously arranged plan on the 21st December, two battalions of the 67th Brigade left camp to establish a permanent piquet on the feature known as "Black Hill," a tumbled mass of ridges on the bank of the river which runs west of Sagarzai peak and commands the camp at a range of 1,700 yards.

By 10-30 A.M. "Black Hill" was occupied without opposition and work on the locality was begun, in spite of some sniping fire. When the construction of the post was half finished, the enemy was seen massing for attack at a point half way between "Black Hill" and the Sagarzai peak. Shortly after 1-30 P.M. sniping increased and was followed almost at once by a rush of 800 to 1,000 Mahsuds. The Mahsuds attacked from three directions, and, in spite of heavy loss from our artillery fire, overran the right of the covering troops and, attacking the remainder in flank and rear, forced them back. Meanwhile, the officer in command of the working party of the 3-34th Sikh Pioneers which was constructing the post, took all his men into the half finished work where they were immediately attacked by the Mahsuds in front and on both flanks. Four attacks were beaten off and the fifth attack had developed when the officer in command found that ammunition and grenades were running short, and withdrew from the piquet towards the camp.

The covering troops, who had been reorganized on the ridge half way to camp, launched a counter-attack which reached the bottom of the steep rise to the piquet, but failed to make further progress, and, accordingly, at 4 P.M. our troops were withdrawn, under orders, to the camp on Palosina Plain.

The splendid behaviour of the working party of the 3-34th Sikh Pioneers merits the highest praise.

During this action the losses of the Mahsuds were estimated at 250 killed and 300 severely wounded. Our casualties amounted to 66 killed and 256 wounded.

25. By this date, the 21st of December, five battalions had been heavily engaged with the enemy, and although severe losses had been inflicted on the Mahsuds, three of these battalions were badly in need of rest It was therefore decided that they should be replaced in the column by other troops. Accordingly, two Punjab battalions, the 2-19th and the 82nd, and the 2-112th Infantry were withdrawn into the Lines of Communication, and the 4-39th Garhwal Rifles, 2-76th Punjabis and 2-152nd Punjabis from the 43rd Brigade took their place.

26 On the 22nd of December "Black Hill" was reoccupied without much opposition, and from that date was held permanently by a piquet. Fifty dead Mahsuds were found on the hill and in its vicinity, and during the day many burials were seen to take place in the vicinity of Kotkai, four miles north-west of "Black Hill," on the Tank Zam.

No operations were undertaken on the 23rd or 24th of December as owing to low clouds and rain, close co-operation with aeroplanes was impossible. On the 24th December the Headquarters 43rd Brigade with the 57th Wilde's Rifles joined the Column at Palosina.

27. The weather cleared up on the 25th, and a force under Brigadier-General F. G. Lucas, C.B., C.S.I., D.S.O., composed of—

4-39th Garhwal Rifles,
1-55th Coke's Rifles,
2-76th Punjabis,
2 companies, 57th Wilde's Rifles,
1-103rd Mahratta Light Infantry,
1 section, 55th Field Company, Sappers and Miners,
3 companies, 3-34th Sikh Pioneers, occupied "Sandbag Hill" and the hills to the north of it with little opposition, and the work on the Mandanna Hill was continued. Large numbers of tribesmen were seen on the slopes of Tsappar Ghar and near Kotkai. They were continuously harassed by aeroplanes, and probably for that reason they did not interfere in any way with the operations. In the evening all the troops were withdrawn to the camp.

The next day, the 43rd Brigade, under Brigadier-General G. Gwyn-Thomas, C.M.G., D.S.O., repeated the operation unopposed and the construction of the post on Mandanna Hill was finished and garrisoned by one British officer and 125 rifles. On the 27th of December another permanent piquet was established on "Chalk Hill," 1,200 yards north of Mandanna Hill, without incident.

28. Meanwhile, on the 24th of December, messengers had come in from the leading Mahsud maliks to ask for peace and for permission to come to Jandola to arrive at a settlement. In spite of being told that our advance would not be stopped pending the result of the meeting, the maliks arrived at Jandola during the 28th, and on the 29th December Major-General Climo held a jirga. Representative maliks were present from nearly all the tribes and sub-tribes; the only notable exception were the Abdullais who inhabit the country in the neighbourhood of Makin.

In view of the opposition that had been encountered, we added to the severity of our original terms. These additional terms increased the number of tribal rifles to be surrendered from 200 to 300. The extra hundred were to be confiscated permanently by us. In addition, the representatives were told that our advance would be continued until the sincerity of their submission was proved by the payment of the full fine, and by the surrender of the full number of tribal rifles. In spite of these terms complete submission of the Mahsuds was made, and was signed and sealed by those present.

29. The period from the 17th to 28th of December formed the first phase in the operations against the Mahsuds. The losses which they had sustained on the 21st of December caused most of the lashkar to disperse to their homes with their dead and wounded, and without doubt their heavy casualties made them, for a time at least, desist from pursuing the rushing tactics which they had so recklessiy resorted to. This breathing space enabled our troops not only to establish several important permanent piquets without opposition, but also made them realise that the losses of the tribesmen had been heavier than our own.

It must be emphasised that the tribesmen had fought in a way they had never done before. Their attacks were well organised, and their combination of fire and shock tactics was excellent. This undoubtedly was caused by the presence in their ranks of many deserters from the former militia and retired regular soldiers.

30. In accordance with our decision, which was communicated to the jirga at Jandola, on the 29th of December a column, consisting of Column Head-quarters with the 43rd Infantry Brigade and attached troops, left Palosina Camp and advanced with little opposition to Kotkai, a distance of four miles. A third of the advance was covered by the permanent piquets established during the operations round Mandanna Kach.

The distribution of the Column is shown in Appendix No. 3.

The Column remained at Kotkai until the 7th of January. During this period permanent piquets were established at various points between the latter place and Jandola, so as to complete the defence of the road and give adequate protection to the convoys Permanent piquets were also established north of Kotkai to prepare for the next advance. These operations were carried out with little opposition from the enemy except on the 2nd of January, during the construction of a permanent post about 2,500 yards north-west of Kotkai. This operation was entrusted to Brigadier-General Gwyn-Thomas' Brigade. The 4-39th Garhwal Rifles, who were detailed to form the covering troops, reached their positions without much opposition. But between mid-day and 3 P.M. three determined attacks were made on their right company. Each of these attacks was pushed home in the most determined manner and the enemy was only driven off after severe fighting. During the withdrawal of the covering troops, the enemy made one more attack but the battalion counter-attacked most gallantly and drove the enemy back after hard hand-to-hand fighting. The enemy's casualties were estimated at 100, whilst the 4-39th Garhwal Rifles lost 35 killed and 43 wounded. The latter displayed great endurance and gallantry and taught the tribesmen a wholesome lesson.

OPERATIONS IN THE VICINITY OF AHNAI TANGI.

31. On the 6th January the 67th Brigade reached Kotkai Camp from Palosina Plain.

The next task before the Column was the capture of the Ahnai Tangi. The latter is about 4 miles from Kotkai Camp and consist of a gorge 60 yards in length and only 30 yards wide. The sides of the gorge are precipitous and rise to a height of 150 feet above the river bed.

The description given below, of the country in the vicinity of the Tangi, will enable the fighting there to be more easily followed. The Spin Ghara range, a series of prominent hills rising to a height of 700 feet above the river, runs in a south-westerly direction from the Tangi and commands all the approaches from the south and south-west. Between the range and the river, the country consists of a plateau intersected by numerous deep ravines which can only be crossed at a few points Opposite the plateau on the left bank of the Tank Zam, the Konr range, a mass of crags rising to a height of 1,000 feet above the bed of the river, commands all approaches from the east.

It was decided to make the main attack across the plateau and seize the west flank of the Ahnai Tangi protecting the right of the attack by occupying the east bank of the river with another body of troops.

Accordingly on the 7th January, the 43rd Brigade made good the east bank for a distance of some three miles from the camp, thereby protecting the advance of the 67th Brigade which moved across the plateau and by 11 A.M. was in a position to attack the west flank of the Ahnai Tangi. By this time, howevever, the enemy had massed on the lower slopes of the Konr range, south of the Tangi, and from this position effectually prevented any further advance of the 67th Brigade. It then became evident that, before the Tangi could be captured, it would be necessary to occupy the heights on the east bank. The lateness of the hour made it impossible to carry out this operation on the 7th, and so the troops were ordered to withdraw, at 1 P.M., to Kotkai Camp. During the withdrawal a party of the enemy rushed a small covering party of our troops but coming themselves under cross fire lost 30 killed. Except for this fight, camp was reached at 5-30 P.M. without further incident. Our casualties during the day were 10 killed and 34 wounded.

32. Although the enemy's tactics of massing on the east bank made it appear desirable to launch the main attack on that side of the river, yet the ground was so difficult and so suitable for defence by a few well posted men, that any idea of attack in that direction had to be abandoned.

Accordingly, it was decided to adhere to the original plan and to make the main attack on the west bank. But to ensure success, orders were issued to establish, as a preparatory operation, a strong point east of Zeriwam in order to protect the flank of the attack, and at the same time to move the 67th Brigade to camp further north so as to make the approach march as short as possible.

With this object in view, the 67th Brigade left Kotkai Camp at 8 A.M on the 9th January, and formed a new camp, 2 miles further north. Meanwhile the 43rd Brigade started the construction of the strong point east of Zeriwam. About 11 A.M. hostile rifle fire became intense and the right of the party, which was covering the construction of the work, was attacked and driven back. As the defences of the strong point had not been finished, the 43rd Brigade was withdrawn at 3 P.M. The enemy, who immediately occupied the half-finished work in large numbers, was shelled with great effect by our artillery from Kotkai plateau, and they also suffered heavily in some close fighting with the 4-39th Garhwal Rifles. The 43rd Brigade returned to Kotkai Camp, and the 67th Brigade, fighting portion only, remained for the night at their new camp.

Another attempt to complete the defences of the strong point was made on the 10th January, but was again unsuccessful. On the same day the 2-9th Gurkha Rifles arrived at Kotkai Camp from Jandola. During the 9th and 10th we sustained losses amounting to 45 killed and 126 wounded. The enemy's losses during the same period were estimated at 187 killed and seriously wounded.

33. Although the construction of the post east of Zeriwam had not been achieved, Major-General Climo decided that it was not advisable to delay any longer the capture of the Ahnai Tangi. Accordingly, as the conditions were favourable, orders were issued to make a night march, and by this means to surprise the enemy and make good the difficult ground before he had time to organize his resistance. The 43rd Brigade under Brigadier-General Gwyn-Thomas which consisted of :—

4-39th Garhwal Rifles,

109th Infantry,

2 companies, 2-150th Infantry (joined the column from L. of C. on 29th December),

2-152nd Punjabis,

was, therefore, ordered to move at 5 A.M. on the 11th January so as to be in a position by dawn to attack the high ground east of Ahnai Tangi.

The 67th Brigade, under Brigadier-General Lucas, consisting of :—

1-55th Coke's Rifles,

57th Wilde's Rifles,

2-76 Punjabis,

2-5th Gurkha Rifles (joined the column on 4th January), was at the same time, ordered to occupy during the night the Spin Ghara range, and to be ready to attack at dawn the west side of the Ahnai Tangi in conjunction with the 43rd Brigade. This operation was entirely successful. By 10 A.M. the west bank of the Ahnai Tangi was in our possession and by 11-15 A.M the occupation of the east bank was successfully accomplished. Our casualties for the day amounted to 5 killed and 28 wounded. Bearing in mind the great difficulties of the ground over which our troops had to advance the success of this operation, at so small a cost, reflects great credit on both leaders and troops.

As soon as piquets had been established to hold Ahnai Tangi, the 43rd Brigade withdrew to Kotkai Camp, whilst the 67th Brigade formed a new camp west of Zeriwam, afterwards known as Ahnai Camp

34. On the 13th January, Column headquarters and Column Troops joined the 67th Brigade at Ahnai amp, and orders were issued for the advance to be continued on the 14th. A short description of the country will help to make clear the next day's fighting.

Running north from the Tangi, on the east bank of the Tank Zam is a long narrow spur culminating in a flat topped hill, some 150 yards in length, called "Flathead Left." The latter completely dominates the bed of the river and the west bank.

Any further advance north of "Flathead Left" is commanded by a mass of cliffs known as "Marble Arch" and, further to the right, by another hill which is separated from "Flathead Left" by a steep and precipitous nullah. This second hill was known as "Flathead Right."

In accordance with orders, a strong advanced guard consisting of 1-55th Coke's Rifles, 2 companies of the 2-5th Gurkha Rifles and 2 guns of No. 27 Mountain Battery, advanced up the bed of the river on the morning of the 14th January. Meanwhile the 2-5th Gurkha Rifles, less 2 companies, moved along the spur to capture "Flathead Left," with the object of constructing there a post for a permanent piquet.

The main body was under Major-General Skeen and consisted of—

1 troop of Cavalry,
4 guns,
3 Battalions,
1 Field Company, Sappers and Miners, and attached troops.

Brigadier-General Lucas, with 4 guns and 2 battalions, was detailed to protect the route from Ahnai Camp to Ahnai Tangi and to escort the transport which numbered 1,480 mules and 2,800 camels. The detail of troops engaged is shown in Appendix No. 4.

The advanced guard, in spite of hostile fire from "Flathead Right" and "Marble Arch," and after a hand-to-hand fight with a party of the enemy, succeeded in placing piquets on a steep ridge on the west bank of the river opposite "Marble Arch."

Meanwhile the flank detachment occupied "Flathead Left" but on advancing from there, was heavily attacked by some 500 tribesmen. The 2-76th Punjabis were immediately sent from the main body with orders to reinforce the 2-5th Gurkha Rifles and to make good "Flathead Right" to facilitate the capture of "Marble Arch." This battalion reached "Flathead Left" by 11-30 A.M., in time to ensure its retention but failed to capture "Flathead Right" owing to the heavy and accurate rifle fire of the tribesmen and the difficulties of the ground. Orders were therefore issued to consolidate the ground gained.

35. As it was then 1-30 P.M., and as the transport was well closed up, it was too late in the day to return to Ahnai Camp. A further advance was impossible as "Marble Arch" had not been captured. Major-General Skeen had, therefore, no alternative but to form a camp where he was, although the locality was most unsuitable.

The camp, afterwards known as Asa Khan Camp, was in the bed of the Tank Zam and not only closely surrounded by hills, the loss of any of which might have created an awkward situation, but was also cramped and confined.

During the afternoon the enemy was reported massing in a ravine to the west front of the camp. The 109th Infantry was immediately sent to drive them off, and in spite of heavy losses, carried out their mission and maintained intact that portion of the defences of the camp.

Meanwhile the position on "Flathead Left" had become somewhat critical. The tribesmen made four determined attacks supported by powerful and accurate covering fire and it was only with difficulty that our troops held their ground.

However two companies of the 2-9th Gurkha Rifles, sent by Brigadier-General Lucas from Ahnai Tangi, arrived in time to turn the tide in our favour and helped to beat off a last desperate assault in which bayonets, stones, knives, and grenades were freely used. After this the enemy pressure slackened, and no further attacks were made. Our troops spent the whole night in consolidating the position gained.

36. This fight was the most stubborn of the whole campaign. Our casualties amounted to 9 British officers killed and 6 wounded, 10 Indian officers and 365 Indian other ranks killed or wounded. The enemy's losses were estimated at 400 killed or seriously wounded.

Owing to the necessity of escorting the transport and securing the road only a few units were available for the actual fighting, but the heavy casualties that these units suffered, especially in British officers, in no way shook their determination.

The Mahsuds fought with their usual spirit. They took full advantage of the difficulties of the ground and by accurate rifle fire covered the concentration and assault of their swordsmen. Many of these assaults were pushed home, and in the hand-to-hand fighting that ensued, our troops proved themselves superior to the enemy.

The co-operation of the Royal Air Force was most effective and was of material assistance towards the success of the day's fighting. Two of our aeroplanes were shot down by the enemy. The occupants, though wounded succeeded in reaching our lines.

37. During the next 3 days Column Headquarters with column troops and the 67th Brigade remained at Asa Khan Camp whilst the wounded were evacuated, supplies collected and preparations made for a further advance.

This period was also employed in establishing permanent piquets in advance of the camp, including one on "Marble Arch," which on this occasion was not held by the enemy. It is interesting to note that except for a few minor brushes with the enemy, little real opposition was encountered, as most of the lashkar, after the heavy losses sustained on the 14th, had dispersed.

On the 18th January the above troops, with the addition of the 3rd Guides, who had joined the column from the 68th Brigade, left Asa Khan Camp and moved forward some 5 miles to Sorarogha plateau. The enemy offered little resistance to the advance. The Sorarogha plateau formed an excellent camp, some 300 feet above the river. It was also sufficiently large to allow of a landing ground for aeroplanes. The troops halted at Sorarogha Camp until the 27th January.

This long halt was necessary in order to collect 10 days' reserve of supplies, ammunition and stores for the striking force. Major-General Climo had decided only to advance by stages of from 10 to 12 miles and not to embark on a new stage until 10 days' maintenance for the striking force had been collected at the head of the old stage. This was a necessary precaution to take, as, although every possible arrangement had been made to ensure the protection of the lines of communication, they were bound to be vulnerable.

38. The period, 29th December 1919 to 20th January 1920, formed the second phase of the operations against the Mahsuds. It was a phase of steady progress and hard fighting which broke the resistance of the enemy

During these 30 days there had been 20 actions in nearly all of which more than one Brigade had been employed. Although this had naturally imposed a great strain on all ranks, it was a period of practical training for the troops and many valuable lessons were learnt.

The initial phases of five of the larger operations had been successfully carried out by night and over difficult country. This alone was high test of discipline and efficiency.

These numerous and successful actions inspired our troops with confidence and made the column a really formidable force, ready to undertake with determination the most difficult operation.

OPERATIONS IN THE VICINITY OF BARARI TANGI.

39. About one and a-quarter mile north of Sorarogha Camp, the Tank Zam cuts through the Sarkai Ghar ridge forming a gorge called the Barari Tangi. The latter is some 300 yards in length and 60 yards wide, with sides which rise precipitously to an average height of 100 feet.

The bed of the river here turns almost due west and is joined by the Barari Algad* from a north-easterly direction.

Algad—Valley.

After passing through the Tangi there are three important features which command any advance up the Tank Zam. These are between the Barari Algad and the tank Zam, "Barari Centre" and "The Barrier" and opposite the latter, on the right bank of the river, "Gibraltar."

The latter is a rocky and wooded bluff, and its existence could not be discovered during the preliminary reconnaissances from Sorarogha Camp.

Before the advance from Sorarogha Camp, permanent piquets were established on the highest points of the Sarkai Ghar ridge on both sides of the Barari Tangi. These piquets were each about 1,000 yards from the river.

They were only established in the face of considerable opposition and at a cost of 15 killed, including a British officer, and 35 wounded. Their possession was essential before any advance could be made on "Barari Centre" whilst the capture of the latter was a necessary preliminary to an attack on "The Barrier."

The southern approach to "The Barrier" was difficult especially the last part which involved a precipitious climb to the crest, which was nowhere more than a few feet wide.

The 43rd Brigade reached Sorarogha Camp from Kotkai on the 26th January.

40. Major-General Skeen decided to seize "Barari Centre" by daybreak and push the attack against "The Barrier" before the enemy could concentrate for its defence.

Accordingly, Brigadier-General Lucas with—

1-55th Coke's Rifles,
2-5th Gurkha Rifles,
109th Infantry,
2 Companies, 3rd Guides, moved off at 5-30 A.M. on the 28th January, and by daybreak "Barari Centre" was in our possession and he was in a position to cover the attack on "The Barrier." At daybreak the advanced guard of the main column consisting of the 57th Wilde's Rifles and 2-150th Infantry under Brigadier-General Gwyn-Thomas, entered the Tangi and pushed on towards "The Barrier" and "Gibraltar."

Immediately behind the advanced guard came a special detachment composed of the 4-39th Garhwal Rifles and 2 companies of the 2-9th Gurkha Rifles, detailed for the capture of "The Barrier." The enemy was taken by surprise and by 10. A.M., with practically no opposition, "The Barrier" was in our possession, and our position was rapidly consolidated.

Meanwhile the vanguard had got well past "Gibraltar" and was approaching Bangiwala, when the troops sent from the mainguard to piquet the former place were held up by accurate sniping from a network of nullahs and wooded plateaus some 600—1,000 yards to their left front. The remaining two companies of the 2-9th Gurkha Rifles were immediately sent to reinforce the piquetting troops. These two companies, skilfully handled, and under close artillery support, drove the enemy back and at 1 P.M. captured "Gibraltar." Owing to persistent sniping consolidation was not carried out till after dark.

The column camped for the night at Ahmadwam, just north of Barar Tangi, except the bulk of the transport which, owing to the limited extent of the camp, had to return to Sorarogha Camp.

During the 29th January, the construction of posts on the localities selected for permanent piquets was completed. Considerable numbers of the enemy were seen during the day up the Tank Zam and two guns supplied by the local Afghan Commander Shah Daulla and brought from Wana came into action against us for the first time. These guns did no harm to our troops. They only had a range of about 2,000 yards and the majority of the shells did not burst. Heavy rain during the night of the 29th made it impossible for the transport to move on the 30th and it was not until the 1st of February that the advance could be resumed.

Between the 28th and 31st January, both dates inclusive, our casualties amounted to 8 killed and 68 wounded.

THE ADVANCE FROM BARARI TANGI TO KANIGURAM.

41 It was realised early in the advance from Jandola that the promises of the Mahsuds to accept our terms, were made solely with a view to procrastination. They hoped that outside assistance would reach them and were convinced that we had not the power to penetrate into the heart of their country.

Consequently, as I have already stated in this despatch, our advance into their country proceeded without regard to verbal professions of submission.

At the same time, every opportunity was given to the tribesmen to prove the sincerity of their promises by actual payment of fines or submission of rifles. Also, no punitive measures were carried out, except in a few cases as retaliation for certain specific offences.

By the time, however, our troops had reached the Barari Tangi, it was considered that forbearance had been carried as far as was advisable and that all possible means would have to be employed to convince the tribes that our terms must be complied with. Major-General Climo, therefore, informed them that after we had reached Janjal, our original terms were null and void. Further, that no overtures would be considered until all the tribal rifles demanded had been surrendered, and the fine paid up in full, and if this was not done, the column would visit both the Makin and Kaniguram areas.

The halts necessitated by the collection of reserves of supplies, ammunition and stores gave the tribes ample time to comply with these terms had they so desired, but nothing appeared to convince them that we intended to proceed to the occupation of their territory.

42. Orders were issued for the advance to continue on the 1st February. Considerable opposition was expected. The character of the country north of the Barari Tangi changes, the hills are thickly covered with scrub and bush which afford good concealment for hostile snipers and prevent accurate observation from aeroplanes. Further, information had been received that, encouraged by the presence of some well-known Afghans and the arrival of the two guns, mentioned above, a lashkar over 4,000 strong had assembled to oppose our troops. For these reasons, Major-General Skeen decided to carry out the first stage of the advance under cover of darkness.

This operation took the enemy by surprise and was entirely successful, and all our objectives, some two miles from camp, were gained and rapidly consolidated with under 30 casualties. The enemy made no attack against our new position, although large gatherings in front of our leading troops were reported by the Air Force. These gatherings were successfully engaged by our artillery and aeroplanes and considerable casualties inflicted.

Bad weather prevented operations being resumed until the 5th February. On that day the troops moved out at 1 A.M and all our objectives were gained and consolidated.

This night march was a very fine feat of endurance on the part of all ranks. Although the heavy rain and snow had ceased, the weather was still severe Not only was the temperature 25 degrees below freezing point but a strong wind added to their discomfort. The Tank Zam had to be crossed many times, and each time that our troops left the river their feet and legs were cased with ice. Men working on the construction of defences on the high ground had first to wrench up the stones frozen fast to the ground and then handle this icy material in order to construct the defences.

In spite of the hardships endured by the troops, this operation proved a most signal success and so thoroughly disheartened the enemy that no further combined opposition was offered by him.

By 5 P.M. the Column was concentrated at Janjal with the loss of only one casualty during the day.

On the 6th February a camp was formed, on a good site, on a plateau west of the Piazha Algad and on the 7th, daily staging between the latter place and Sorarogha, a distance of 9 miles, began.

44. The column remained at Piazha Raghza until the 14th February, in order to collect a reserve of supplies and improve the roads. Permanent piquets were established up to Dwa Toi * where the Dara Toi and the Baddar Toi streams join, and form the Tank Zam. The weather continued very cold with much snow and rain and the accumulation of the reserve of supplies was only completed with considerable difficulty.

* Toi—Stream.

Marobi, 4 miles west of Piazha Raghza Camp, was occupied on the 15th February, very little opposition being encountered and on the 16th a camp was formed near the Taoda China Valley 2 miles south-east of Makin. On the 17th February some 50 Mahsuds attacked a party of the 4-3rd Gurkha Rifles, who had joined the column on 12th February, and who were covering the collection of fuel. The enemy were driven off, and satisfactorily dealt with.

The column remained in the Taoda China Camp until the 29th February. In carrying out operations in this area considerable opposition from hostile snipers was at first encountered. The villages are generally situated in open spaces and are surrounded with high rocky hills thickly covered with undergrowth. The long range rifle fire of the snipers was remarkably accurate whilst the nature of the country made their location difficult.

During the first few days our troops sustained over 200 causalties but after that opposition decreased to such an extent that we only had some 20 casualties during the last 8 days.

45 It was decided to evacuate the Makin area on the 1st of March and to occupy Kaniguram, which we had told the tribesmen (vide paragraph 41) we intended to do in the event of their not complying with our terms.

The advanced piquets which were 2 miles north-west of the Taoda China Camp, although in close touch with the enemy, were successfully withdrawn towards the camp during the night, and the whole column marched at dawn. Owing to the precautions taken, the withdrawal came as a surprise to the enemy and only a few small parties attempted to molest the march. The column reached Dwa Toi the same day with the loss of only 5 casualties.

The tribesmen who swarmed into the evacuated camp at Taoda China were dealt with by our artillery and aeroplanes and suffered considerably.

On the 3rd March the column reached Ladha, some three miles up the Baddar Toi. The country in this valley was the most difficult that our troops had to negotiate since leaving Jandola. Although the Mahsuds endeavoured to oppose our progress, owing to the skilful handling of the advanced guard, camp was reached with the loss of only 10 casualties.

On the 6th of March, the advance was resumed and the column went into camp about 800 yards east of Kaniguram. Little opposition was encountered but accurate sniping caused us a loss of 13 men in the area north-west of the village.

46. During the stay of the column at Kaniguram, the Mahsuds gave little trouble. Most of the tribes made genuine efforts. to collect and pay in their share of the fine and their proportion of tribal and Government rifles, but certain sections, especially those further removed from our line of advance, made little or no effort. The worst offenders were the inhabitants of the upper valleys of the Baddar Toi, who believed themselves out of reach of our troops.

These people were well-known recalcitrants and, as no troops had penetrated into their country for many years, it was decided to punish them. Accordinly a force consisting of 6 guns, and 2,620 rifles with 2,000 transport animals moved up the Baddar Toi on the 6th April, the rest of the column remaining at Kaniguram. The force reached Giga Khel and returned to Kaniguram on the 8th April. During this punitive operation we lost 16 killed and 45 wounded.

47. The operations in the Baddar Toi Valley closed the active work of the Derajat Column. After a sixteen foot road had been constructed from Kaniguram to Ladha, the whole column left the former village and moved to Ladha and started there the construction of a permanent camp.

Owing to the severe losses that the Mahsuds had sustained during the heavy fighting in our advance, practically all resistance had now ceased and our troops were unmolested. Consequently it was possible to reduce the garrison at Ladha to one Infantry Brigade with a Battery of Artillery, a Field Company Sappers and Miners and a Pioneer Battalion. On the 7th May the Headquarters of the Derajat Column was dispersed.

CONCLUSION.

48 Before concluding this Despatch I desire to comment briefly on certain points of interest which have come to my notice during these operations.

The Waziristan Force was equipped with the most modern weapons, many of which had not previously been employed on the Frontier. Amongst these weapons the experiences gained by the use of aeroplanes and of the 3·7-inch Mountain Howitzer are of considerable interest.

It is impossible to overestimate the value of aircraft in tactical co-operation with other arms. Their presence greatly raised the moral of our troops whilst correspondingly decreasing that of the enemy. Aeroplanes, when thus employed, did considerable damage and helped, in no small measure, towards the success of many of the actions.

The information obtained from photography was of great tactical and topographical value. Further they caused extensive damage to the enemy's flocks and herds especially at the beginning of operations.

On the other hand, results obtained from bombing and tactical reconnaissance did not fulfil expectations. This was largely due to the nature of the country and the skill with which the tribesmen concealed themselves.

The 3·7-inch Mountain Howitzer proved of great value. It combines sufficient mobility with considerable shell power effective against both personnel and material. Owing to its high trajectory it can open fire from the neighbourhood of the line of march. The flat trajectory of a gun on the other hand necessitates its being placed so as to enable its shell to clear the crests of intervening ridges, which frequently entails taking up a position some distance from the line of march and consequent delay. The fire of the Howitzer is accurate, searching and rapid. And further the improvement in the last few years, in the detonation of H. E. shells has enhanced the value of howitzers as compared to guns. For these reasons experience points to a preponderance of howitzers to guns being required in the future for mountain warfare.

49. In addition to the facts mentioned above, other experiences have merely borne out the principles of mountain warfare, which are well known from many former campaigns. It is, however, necessary here to lay emphasis upon the supreme importance of adequate training of troops prior to their employment in a frontier campaign. Nothing can take the place of careful individual training. If possible, it is more essential in mountain warfare than in any other class of fighting that troops should have confidence in their weapons. This can only be obtained by systematic individual training, which must include instruction in making the best tactical use of the ground, in the principles of fire and movement, and in the mental development of the soldier to such a degree of alertness, that no target escapes detection and appropriate action is immediately taken. At the beginning of these operations, a proportion of the troops were not fully masters of their weapons. This was due to their ignorance of how to use them to the best advantage, as, owing to the demands made by the Great War, men had been somewhat hastily trained, and it is probable that the severity of the fighting in December was due to a certain degree to this lack of training. However, as the campaign proceeded, the lessons learned in the field, gradually transformed the troops into a highly efficient force, confident in themselves, their weapons and in their leaders.

50. The well known principle of war, in relation to the efficacy of surprise, was well exemplified during this campaign. Major-General Skeen, by means of numerous night advances, continually forestalled the enemy in occupation of important tactical points and when thus surprised the latter rarely attempted to dispute their possession. Both the actual defiles of the Ahnai and Barari Tangis were seized by night advances. Subsequent knowledge of these localities proves without doubt their capture by a daylight attack must have been a costly operation. Night advances not only enabled the column to make good any difficult ground with little loss but the uncertainty and surprise engendered by these operations so unnerved the tribesmen that it was the chief cause of the dispersal, without any serious engagement, of the large tribal concentration between the Barari Tangi and Dwa Toi

The success of these operations, conducted as they were over such a difficult country, is a high tribute to the competence of the staff and the discipline of the troops.

51. The system adopted of protecting the Lines of Communication by permanent piquets had the most gratifying results. This system has been explained in paragraph 18 of this report.

In the Valley of the Tochi, no attempt was made against our communications and on the Tank Zam only one raid occurred, and this was a very minor affair. Sniping convoys was practically unknown. Throughout the whole of these operations the losses in the convoys, by enemy action, did not exceed 26 animals. This result is remarkable both in view of the length of these communications, and of the difficult country through which they pass. From information received there is no doubt that the tribesmen would have caried out raids if they could have found opportunity, and they kept a careful watch on the Lines of Communication for that purpose.

52. The close of these operations on the 7th May brought to an end a Frontier campaign of unparalleled hard fighting and severity. The enemy fought with a determination and courage which has rarely, if ever, been met with by our troops in similar operations. The character of the terrain, combined with trying and arduous climatic conditions, alone presented difficulties before which the most hardened troops might well have hesitated. The resistance of the enemy has been broken and the difficulties successfully overcome by a force composed almost entirely of Indian troops. No British troops, except for the Royal Air Force and a British Battery of Mountain Artillery, were employed. This fact has without doubt considerably raised the prestige of the Indian Army on the Frontier, and increased the esprit de corps of the troops engaged.

Amongst the many battalions that have done well I wish particularly to bring to your notice the 4·39h Garhwal Rifles This battalion fought with magnificent spirit, eagerly engaged the enemy in hand-to-hand fighting, and obtained a moral superiority over him that reacted at once throughout the Force. In addition to this battalion the following units have distinguished themselves in numerous actions in the Tank Zam, in the vicinity of Makin and Kaniguram, and in the Upper Baddar Toi :—

55th Field Company Sappers and Miners.
3rd Battalion Q. O. Corps of Guides.
3-34th Sikh Pioneers.
1-55th Coke's Rifles.
2-76th Punjabis.
109th Infantry.
2-150th Infantry,
4-3rd Gurkha Rifles.
2-5th Gurkha Rifles.
2-9th Gurkha Rifles.
3-11th Gurkha Rifles.

53. I take this opportunity to bring to notice the admirable work which the Royal Air Force has performed. The difficulties and dangers of flying over the Mahsud country are particularly great, but, in spite of the high hills and deep and narrow valleys, pilots and observers showed no hesitation in flying at the lowest altitudes in order to obtain successful results against the minute targets that existed.

In tactical co-operation with troops the bold and fearless manner in which the machines were handled gained the admiration of the Infantry and the respect of the enemy. At the start of the campaign all ranks were filled with the desire to force the submission of the tribes by bombing, and daily, for weeks on end, all available machines were out on this difficult and dangerous duty.

The Brigade of Mountain Artillery was fortunate in the possession of a considerable number of experienced personnel in its batteries and its work reached a high standard of efficiency. No. 6 British and No. 27 Indian Mountain Batteries accompanied the Derajat Column throughout and especially distinguished themselves.

A peculiarly heavy burden was imposed on the Engineer and Works Services, both preparatory to and during operations. They had to deal with a vast amount of work which included the collection and issue of the varied material now required by troops in the field, the erection of temporary buildings, mostly for hospital purposes and the construction, improvement and repair of roads to suit the requirements of the many varieties of transport. They met every demand made on them with praiseworthy rapidity and I desire to express my appreciation of the excellent work they have done.

The Signal Service performed its duties with its accustomary efficiency and untiring energy in spite of the shortness of British personnel, especially wireless operators.

The working of the Postal Service was most expeditious and regular, and thereby did much to ameliorate the discomforts of the campaign.

The detachment of the Survey Department did excellent work, not only in the rapidity and accuracy with which it produced maps of an unsurveyed country, but also in the valuable and willing assistance it always gave in the reproduction of aeroplane photographs, panorama sketches and matters of a similar nature.

In spite of the difficulties with which they were confronted, the Supply and Transport services were admirably administered throughout by all ranks and grades of the corps. The march discipline of the various transport corps and the excellent condition of the animals was most creditable to all.

The herosim of the Army Bearer Corps gained the universal admiration and gratitude of all ranks. The following units have been especially brought to my notice as deserving of the highest praise :—

No. 1 Bearer Unit.
No. 2 Indian Field Ambulance.
No. 42 Combined Field Ambulance.

The evacuation of the sick and wounded was most efficiently performed and in no single case throughout the operation did any delay occur in this most important service. At each stage on the way down the Lines of Communication the wounded received all possible attention Only the most serious cases were evacuated to India, other cases were treated locally and returned to their units. Much of the comfort of the hospitals, which were provided with every necessity, may be attributed to the presence of Nursing Sisters who devoted themselves with untiring care and zeal to their work of mercy

The unique standard of comfort and efficiency which obtained in the hospitals could only have been achieved by administrative ability of the highest order and by minute attention to detail on the part of all ranks. My thanks are due to the Senior Medical Officer with the Force and to his subordinate officers for their devotion to duty and their solicitude for the sick and wounded.

At the Bases the following hospitals have been brought to my notice for work of high order :—

Bannu General Station Hospital.
43rd Indian General Hospital at Dehra Ismail Khan.
49th Indian General Hospital at Manzai.

Particularly heavy work fell on the Ordnance Service, especially at the beginning of the operations when, owing to demobilisation, it was short of British personnel at a time when they were most required In spite of these difficulties this Branch supplied the needs of the Force with unfailing accuracy.

The work of the Veterinary Service was ably carried out. By foresight and close attention to detail, Directors and Officers of the Corps eliminated all possibility of a breakdown of the transport service from disease. Many of the Animal Transport Corps were without experienced transport officers and the Veterinary Service made up the deficiency by advice and constant inspections.

The Remount Service was administered to my entire satisfaction.

54. The comfort of the troops depended greatly on the efficient working of the Lines of Communication. Modern conditions have largely increased the amount of stores of all sorts required, and, especially in frontier warfare.

the systematic and regular delivery of these stores to the troops is a complicated matter, owing to the varied forms of transport and the difficulties of the roads. Throughout these operations, foresight and determination overcame all obstacles and the organization of the Lines of Communication worked perfectly smoothly throughout. Every individual on the staff was impressed with the one idea of assisting the officers and troops by passing all stores as rapidly as possible up and down the Lines. The most advanced troops were never short of anything which was obtainable.

The equipment and clothing of the troops and followers and the generous scales of rations for all personnel and animals left nothing to be desired, and enabled them to stand the hardships of this campaign which was carried out under most trying climatic conditions.

55. The Joint War Committee of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England and the British Red Cross Society, established depôts within the Force under the able direction of the Revd. C. F. Hall, and ministered to the comfort of the troops in hospitals, both at the Base and on the Lines of Communication. Their Christmas gifts to the troops were most welcome and were highly appreciated My grateful thanks are also due to the late Punjab Comforts Fund (Lady Maclagan) and to the Seal War Fund (Mrs. Simpson, Calcutta), for their kind gifts to the troops. Her Highness the Begum of Bhopal generously presented mufflers for distribution to the troops, and Indian gentlemen of Bannu, Tank and Dera Ismail Khan presented games and fruit to the hospitals and money for the comfort of the troops which enabled many a want to be met. My special thanks are due to Mr. W. C. Lintott, proprietor of Lyons Cinema, Rawalpindi, who generously sent two cinematograph establishments which visited the various camps during the last eight months and provided excellent entertainments free of all charge.

56. Major-General S. H. Climo, C.B., D.S.O., commanded the Waziristan Field Force to my entire satisfaction. In every theatre of war in which he has been employed he has proved himself to be an exceptionally able and resolute commander and especially so in this arduous campaign, which has demanded the highest qualities of leadership. His knowledge of frontier warfare, and the best means of dealing satisfactorily with the complex problems created thereby, has been most marked. His extensive acquaintance of administrative details enabled him to provide successfully for the comfort and health of his troops. This was especially noticeable on the Lines of Communication, where the provision of Rest Camps, wherein the sick were attended to, and relieving troops provided with ample food and shelter, largely contributed to the efficiency of the force and the success of the operation.

I desire here to express my indebtedness to the advice and assistance which the Hon'ble Sir A. H. Grant, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, has given throughout these operations. His knowledge of the local conditions, which he has readily placed at the disposal of my officers, has been of the greatest help.

Major-General A. Skeen, C.M.G., commanded the Tochi and Derajat Columns. His special knowledge of staff duties and his administrative ability have been of great advantage to the large body of troops under his command. As a commander in the field he was faced with problems of unusual difficulty and with situations which demanded high qualities of leadership and of military discernment. His determination, judgment, and expert knowledge of frontier warfare won for him from his troops their high regard and confidence.

Brigadier-General H. C. Tytler, C.M.G., D.S.O., has carried out the duties of I. G. C. with striking success. He has devoted his abilities and powers of organization whole-heartedly to the welfare of the force.

Brigadier-General W. S. Leslie, C.M.G., D.S.O., who was Brigadier-General, General Staff to the headquarters of the Waziristan Force, is a staff officer of high calibre and of great mental vitality. His foresight and the precision with which he carried out his duties have been of the highest value to the force.

Brigadier-General C. R. Bradshaw was D. A. and Q. M. G. to the headquarters of the Waziristan Force. His considerable powers of organization and of administration have been of great value to the force. He has anticipated the wants of the troops throughout and has proved himself absolutely reliable.

Colonel C. W. Profeit, C.M.G., D.S.O., R.A.M.C., was D. D. M. S. of the Force. His administrative ability and devotion to duty has ensured the remarkable success of the Medical Service.

Colonel H. A. P. Lindsay, C.M.G., C.B.E., D. D. S. and T. of the Force, has laboured unceasingly to ensure efficient maintenance of the force. He has shown himself to be an officer of high administrative ability

57. A list of the names of those whose services have been of particular value is herewith enclosed.

THE Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Uncovenanted Service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the fund are—(1) that widowed daughters incapable of remarriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominees predecease them after five years of admission. The second quinquennial valuation of the fund has been completed by the Actuary to the Government of India and his report discloses very favourable results. For forms of application and rules of the Fund apply to the Accountant-General, Central Revenues, Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta.

There shall be no debate on such motion. If such motion be carried by the votes of at least two-thirds of the members present and voting, the question shall be put accordingly;

(b) Reports by Select Committees.

5. (1) When a Bill has been referred to a select committee, the committee shall make a report thereon. Reports by select committee

(2) Reports may be either preliminary or final.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE LICENSED WAREHOUSE AND FIRE BRIGADE ACT FOR THE YEAR ENDING 31st MARCH 1920.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 2986M.—The 8th December 1920.—The following is published for general information, under section 41 of the Licensed Warehouse and Fire-Brigade Act, 1893 (Bengal Act I of 1893).

L. S. S. O'MALLEY,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. F.B. 49-20—1269, dated Calcutta, the 30th November 1920.

From—R. CLARKE, ESQ., C.I.E., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Dept.

IN accordance with paragraph 41, section 2 of the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act (I of 1893), I have the honour to submit herewith the report on the working of the Fire Brigade and Ambulance Department for the year ending the 31st March 1920.

No. F. B. 49-20—952B., dated Calcutta, the 11th November 1920.

From—R. CLARKE, ESQ., C.I.E., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Dept.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the report of the Chief Officer of the Calcutta Fire Brigade for the financial year ending 31st March 1920.

The Chief Officer's report gives the full details in connection with the working of the Brigade, and I need not recapitulate these.

The question of the water-supply in the districts of Howrah and Chitpore demands immediate attention as these areas comprise very dangerous fire risks.

The Brigade has worked extremely well during the year, and I am glad to report that there were no accidents to the members while engaged on actual fire work.

No. F.B. 49-20—952A., dated Calcutta, the 11th November 1920.

From—W. JARRETT, ESQ., Offg. Chief Officer, Fire Brigade, Calcutta.
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Dept.
(Through R. Clarke, ESQ., C.I.E., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.)

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Calcutta Fire Brigade for the financial year ending the 31stMarch 1920.

I have been in charge of the Fire Brigade from the 27th February 1920, on which date Captain B. A. Westbrook, the permanent Chief Officer, went on leave.

2. Financial Statement.—The statements of the receipts and expenditure and payments made by the municipalities within the jurisdiction of the Fire Brigade Act, I of 1893, is given in Appendix I.

All the municipalities have fully contributed their share excepting Cossipore-Chitpur. This municipality covers the most important and dangerous district containing several jute presses and very heavy fire risks.

3. Fires, etc.—The total numbers of fires or supposed fires dealt with by the Fire Brigade during the year under review is 550, being an increase of 10 as compared with the previous year. Turn-outs may be classified as under :—

Fires	425
False alarms	124
Calls for special service	1

It is unsatisfactory to note that no less than 73 of the above false alarms were assumed to be wilful. In only three instances were the offenders arrested by the police and dealt with. The Fire Alarm system has proved however to be most useful as undoubtedly many serious fires have been averted due to this rapid means of communicating with the Brigade.

The actual number of calls received during the year was 811 as compared with 825 in 1918-19. This figure includes several instances where more than one call was received for the same fire. The means by which these calls were received by the Brigade are given in Appendix II.

On one	day 7	fires or supposed fires occurred		...	7
On four	days 6	ditto	ditto	...	24
On eight	„ 5	ditto	ditto	...	40
On eighteen	„ 4	ditto	ditto	...	72
On forty-five	„ 3	ditto	ditto	...	135
On seventy-five	„ 2	ditto	ditto	...	150
On one hundred and twenty-two	„ 1	ditto	ditto	...	122
273 days			Total	...	550

Thirty-eight fires occurred in the premises licensed under the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, I of 1893, as compared with 24 in the previous year. The nature of the trades requiring licenses under the Act are enumerated in Appendix XVII.

4. Fire Loss.—The damage caused by fire and water during the year was estimated at Rs. 28,13,022 being an increase of Rs. 12,62,748 over the last year and of Rs. 17,75,218 over the average for the past nine years. The increase of fire loss is due to several serious jute fires in the Chitpore and Howrah areas which could not be rapidly controlled owing to the inadequate water-supply. The most serious outbreak was the fire at the Hanuman Jute Press, Ghoosery, Howrah, where the damage was estimated at about Rs. 10,00,000, and in this case water had to be brought from a tank 1,000 yards away. The average damage per fire during the year was Rs. 5,115 as compared with Rs. 3,635 for the past nine years.

5. The following summaries are given in the Appendices shown against each :—

Districts in which fires or supposed fires occurred ...	III
The number of fires on every day and month throughout the year	IV
Daily and hourly summary of fires or supposed fires ...	V
Damage caused by fire, etc., in various districts ...	VI

Comparative statement for the past eleven years	XVIII

6. Appliances.—Appendix X shows the present distribution of the principal appliances in use by the Brigade, and Appendix XI gives the number of times each appliance has been turned out in response to fire calls, with monthly figures.

It is estimated that motor appliances travelled 4,230 miles and horse-drawn appliances 240½ miles during the year in responding to and returning from calls.

Delivery has been received of a motor fire engine with a Rees-Roturbo Pump from Messrs. Leyland & Co. on 20th November 1919, and of a 60-65 B. H. P., Dennis Fire Engine of 500 gallons capacity on 20th January 1920, which have been added to increase the efficiency of the Brigade. Another fire engine on order is still due and delivery is expected very shortly.

7. Fire Stations.—Appendix XII gives the number of times each station has been turned out in response to fire calls, together with monthly figures.

The Fire Brigade Headquarters are still situated in the premises temporarily hired from the Samavaya Corporation, Limited, at a high monthly rental and I regret I am unable to record progress in the provision of the permanent headquarters as unfortunately no suitable site could be obtained at present.

During the year under review arrangement has been made to erect a new district fire station in the Central Avenue on the site formerly occupied by the pumping station.

I am pleased to be able to report that the building is now in course of construction, and it is expected to be occupied during the year.

Plans and estimates have been prepared for the extension of the Chitpore Fire Station, and for this purpose a portion of land has been transferred to the Fire Brigade by Government, but as there are no funds for the purpose the work has been deferred to the next year.

The district fire station at Howrah remains the same and requires remodelling and extending. It is hoped that arrangements will be made to take up this work very shortly.

It has been decided that Government will appoint a Committee to consider the question of fire control in the port area and the docks, and it is hoped that the matter will be put on a proper footing. It was suggested that a district station be erected at the Kidderpore Docks to protect the docks and also to respond to the calls in Kidderpore, Watgunge and Garden Reach areas. When this station is erected the existing small fire stations at Garden Reach and Watgunge will be vacated.

Arrangements are in progress to provide a fire station in the Sova Bazar section which will undoubtedly improve the situation in the northern town.

8. Staff.—The total strength of the Fire Bridge is 221. The general conduct and discipline has been good.

Although the scale of pay has been revised lately it is insufficient to balance the general increase in the cost of living, and there has been a general discontent among the staff, inasmuch as they frequently leave the Fire Brigade for higher pay and better prospects outside. It has also been found very difficult to recruit a suitable class of men on the existing pay, and if no appreciable enhancement is made very soon it is feared that the Fire Brigade will lose all its experienced hands. The matter will be shortly placed before Government, and it is hoped that it will receive urgent and favourable consideration.

9. Fatalities and Accidents.—Short details of fires and calls involving loss of life and accidents are given in Appendix XIV.

I am glad to be able to report that the members of the Calcutta Fire Brigade have been remarkably free from serious accidents.

The total number of fatalities during the year was 46 as compared with 10 in the previous year. Of these only one was a case of suicide by burning.

First aid was rendered in almost all the cases by the Fire Brigade and the injured persons were conveyed to hospital.

10. Horses.—There are at present 12 horses against 16 in the previous year. Four have been cast and sold during the year. When the motorisation of the Brigade is fully effected horse traction will be discontinued.

11. Water-Supply.—The reports for previous years contain full details of the exact situation as regards water-supply.

The position in the Howrah and Chitpore districts is exceptionally dangerous, and although it was reported to the responsible authorities several times, nothing has been done to provide for an adequate water-supply for fire extinguishing purposes. The attention of Government has been drawn to this fact in letter No. F. B. 95-9217, dated the 21st November 1919.

The fire which occurred at the Hanuman Press, Ghoosery, Howrah, on the 8th day of January 1920 was the most serious fire for several years in the area protected by the Calcutta Fire Brigade. I trust that this fire, in a very dangerous industrial district, may serve the purpose of emphasising the previous representations on the subject, and that an adequate water-supply will be installed both at Howrah and Chitpore.

The press concerned is located in an increasingly important and congested industrial district, and no provision whatsoever has been made for the supply of water for fire extinguishing, notwithstanding repeated representations to the authorities concerned.

Reliance for this purpose has been placed on various tanks in the vicinity of the presses and from the river.

In reference to the tanks the practice of filling them up on sanitary grounds has been carried on extensively for the past few years, and now the nearest available tank to the Press destroyed is well over 1,000 yards. The danger of filling up these tanks before a water-supply has been installed has been several times pointed out to the Howrah Municipality.

So far as the river is concerned it may be noted that for several years past the Annual Reports have urged the extreme necessity for the provision of a modern fire float, as the fire float which was provided and maintained by the Port Commissioners was old and unsuitable for the work. Since the last Annual Report that fire float has been sunk in the river and cannot be salvaged.

At present the port of Calcutta and the districts adjoining the river are in the peculiarly bad position of having to rely upon a land steam fire engine placed on board a hopper barge and used as a fire float. The Hopper barge is unable to proceed against the stream at certain times.

The river being the only practical method of obtaining water for two large industrial areas, viz., Chitpore and Sulkea, etc., it is extremely important to have an up-to-date fire float without delay. The present conditions would not be tolerated in any other large city in the world.

Both the districts mentioned, but especially Sulkea, are becoming exceedingly congested, totally insufficient space being left between jute, etc., godowns to give the Fire Brigade, even with a good water-supply, a reasonable chance of confining a fire to the godown in which it originated.

Under the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act plans are required to be submitted before godowns are sanctioned, but in many instances of late godowns have been erected, and actually stocked with jute, etc, before the submission of plans. Representations have been made on this matter to the Howrah Municipality with, I fear, but little effect.

In reference to the congestion of industrial risks it may be noted that there is little difficulty in obtaining a policy from the Insurance Companies to cover any risk. That no doubt, has a great deal to do with congestion and the danger of fires spreading, as, if Insurance Companies insisted on sufficient space being allotted for each erection and water provided, considerably more care and precaution would be taken.

The economical aspect of the subject appears to have been lost sight of. Owners of presses, etc., are contented when they are covered by insurance, but for the welfare of the country generally it must be remembered that when a fire takes places the value of the buildings and contents are irretrievably lost, and the country is so much the poorer.

The increasing popularity of insurance in India materially enlarges the responsibilities of the Fire Brigade, and it may be noted that the absence of water-supply and congestion of industrial risks particularly in Chitpur and Howrah (Sulkea and Ghoosery) render it necessary to maintain a much larger staff of firemen and appliances than would otherwise be required. The risks in Howrah and Chitpur are entirely responsible for a very large proportion of the Fire Brigade, especially as these municipalities have made no provision for water-supply and in fact, are continually reducing the available supply. Further these municipalities are not paying attention to subdividing fire risks, and the prospects of extremely serious fires are very apparent.

Moreover at these serious fires the attention of the Fire Brigade is required often for a week or ten days thus reducing the available staff for the protection of the remaining portion of the jurisdiction of the Calcutta Fire Brigade.

In connection with floating fire appliances for the protection of shippings etc., on the river, and property contiguous to the river, I regret to have to report again that an extremely serious state of affairs exists. It is much more serious now than formerly, as not only has the volume of shipping increased considerably, and many more properties have been erected near to the river, but the only fire float in existence in the port collided with Howrah Bridge and sunk on 14th June 1919.

As already remarked the only means now provided for the protection of shipping or supplying water for riverside fires is an old pattern steam fire engine placed on a hopper barge. It may be noted that the responsibility for fires in the river rests with the Port Commissioners, and that in 1913 an order was placed by them for an up-to-date fire float. In 1914 this appliance was practically completed, but on the outbreak of hostilities, it was commandeered by the Admiralty, and used by that department throughout the war.

For some considerable time no further action has been taken by the Port Commissioners for the provision of a floating fire appliance commensurate with the needs of the port, and the matter was held up pending the decision of Government as to whether the protection from fire of all shipping, etc. should be taken over by the Calcutta Fire Brigade or remain as it is at present.

Subsequently, however, Government issued instructions to the Port Commissioners to proceed without delay with the provision of the fire float leaving the financial considerations, and I am glad to report that the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta have placed an order with Messrs. Merryweather & Sons, Ltd., and it is hoped that the new fire float will be provided as quickly as possible.

I have to thank the officers of Water Works Department of the Calcutta Corporation for their constant endeavours to improve the water-supply and for their prompt attention to any complaints which have been made.

12. Street Fire Alarms, Telephones and Electrical communications.—Appendix II shows the means by which fire calls have been transmitted to the Fire Brigade.

Appendix XVI gives the position of the Street fire alarms in commission.

I am pleased to have the opportunity of thanking the Bengal Telephone Co. for their continuous interest in all matters concerning Fire Brigade work and the keeping of the fire alarm system and telephones in good working order.

13. Inspection Department, theatres and places of public amusement.—A considerable amount of work has been carried out to safeguard the public in places of amusement, but still much remains to be done. (Direct Fire Alarm connections with the Fire Brigade Headquarters have been installed in all the Theatres and the Museum). The fines imposed on theatres for breach of the bye-laws in the Municipal Court during the year amounted to Rs. 11,315 as against Rs. 3,250 in the previous year.

In connection with the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, I of 1893, during the year under review 4,979 inspections have been made (exclusive of theatres and places of public amusement), 5,012 application for licenses and complaints have been attended to and disposed of.

Two hundred and seventy one prosecutions were instituted under section 14 of Act I of 1893 which resulted in 233 persons being fined aggregating in all, Rs. 3,468, 16 persons being warned and 22 cases withdrawn and filed.

Five licenses were refused as the sites were not considered suitable and in conformity with requirements from the Fire Brigade point of view.

14. Fire Brigade Work Shops.—A large amount of work has been done in the Fire Brigade workshops in keeping the appliances in good order, and it is hoped, that the workshops will be fitted with up-to-date machines and sufficient men to cope with the large amount of work required to be done there. I am pleased to commend Station Officer Mr. F. Tucker, who is at present in charge of the workshops, for the exceptional meritorious service rendered by him throughout the year, although the special allowance granted to him has ceased under Government orders.

15. Office.—The work of the office has considerably increased and more responsibility has been thrown on it owing to the inauguration of the Stores Department and the centralisation of all the accounts, etc. at the Fire Brigade headquarters. Much credit is due to the Head Clerk Babu K. C. Sen Gupta, who has greatly helped to organise and to bring the office up to its present standard of efficiency. I am pleased to report that there appears to be no serious accounts objection during the audit of the last four years.

16. General.—The Calcutta Fire Brigade protects the municipalities of Calcutta, Cossipore-Chitpur, Howrah, Maniktolla and Garden Reach and may attend fires outside the boundaries of these municipalities but not exceeding a radius of 6 miles from the Central Fire Station, provided that appliances can be spared and on payment of a prescribed fee. Appendix XIX gives the Government order relating to this and the form which should be signed prior to the Fire Brigade leaving the jurisdiction of the above municipalities.

The actual area protected by the Calcutta Fire Brigade is just over 113 quare miles and the population included in same is about 1½ millions.

Great progress has been made by the Inspection Department in safeguarding fire risks, and it is necessary that this department should be increased to fully and efficiently deal with the amount of the work which devolves on it.

On the occasion of the riots in April 1919 the Fire Brigade had no less than 9 calls and the engines and the men had to face serious risks at the hands of the rioters, and I am pleased to report that nothing serious occurred excepting slight injuries to the men with stones.

I am pleased to be in a position to report that the officers of the Fire Brigade rendered honest and hard services throughout the year for which my thanks are due to them.

17. Ambulance Service.—The Motor Ambulance Service continues to do a lot of valuable work, no less than 16,060 calls having been received during the year under review as compared with 8,792 calls in the previous year. The number of miles travelled by motor ambulances during the year is 63,961 as compared with 43,039 during the previous year.

During the year the service has been supplemented by 2 Ford Non-infectious ambulances and one extra Infectious car for the epidemic season.

Appendix XXI gives the number of calls received every day and month throughout the year, and Appendix XXII gives the scale of charges for the use of the motor ambulances.

The Ambulance Department is financially maintained by Government and the Corporation of Calcutta at the proportion of one-third and two-thirds respectively. Appendix XX gives a statement of receipts and expenditure incurred by the motor ambulance service.

N.B.—Some of the Appendices referred to in the above report are not reprinted in the Gazette.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Third Forecast of the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1920-21.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1918-19, the area under the Cotton Crops in Bengal has represented some 0·3 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India).

THERE are two crops—early and late. The "early" crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, in the Tripura State, and, to a small extent, in other districts. The "late" crop is unimportant and is mainly grown in Bankura and Midnapore.

Character of the season.—As reported in the second forecast, the weather was generally unsatisfactory for the early crop more especially in Midnapore and in the Tripura State. In the case of the former, excessive rain during the period of growth caused considerable damage and untimely heavy rainfall in the case of the latter hindered flowering. The outturn, in consequence, has been greatly reduced. The condition of the late crop is generally reported as fair.

Area sown.—The total area sown with the early crop is returned at 68,435 acres and that with the late crop 1,707 acres against 66,697 and 2,161 acres, respectively in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—The estimated outturn of the early crop is returned at 20,462 bales this year against 19,539 bales in the corresponding forecast of last year. The outturn of the late crop is estimated at 891 bales this year against 1,000 bales in the corresponding forecast of last year.

An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Ghazipur Factory, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal.

7. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Government entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment

NOTIFICATION.

Delhi, December 16, 1920.

No. 308 S.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 45-A and 129-A of the Government of India Act, the Governor General in Council, with the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council, is pleased to make the following rules, the same having been approved by both Houses of Parliament

Short title and commencement

1. (1) These rules may be called the Devolution Rules.

(2) They shall come into force on a date to be appointed by the Governor General in Council, with the approval of the Secretary of State in Council, and different dates may be appointed for different parts of India, and for different provisions of these rules.

Definitions.

2. In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "all-India revenues" means such portion of the revenues of India as is not allocated to local Governments under these rules;

(b) "Schedule" means a Schedule to these rules;

(c) "the Act" means the Government of India Act.

Part I.—Classification of subjects.

3. (1) For the purpose of distinguishing the functions of local Governments and local legislatures of Governors' provinces and of the province of Burma from the functions of the Governor General in Council and the Indian legislature, subjects shall in those provinces be classified in relation to the functions of Government as central and provincial subjects in accordance with the lists set out in Schedule I.

(2) Any matter which is included in the list of provincial subjects set out in Part II of Schedule I shall, to the extent of such inclusion, be excluded from any central subject of which, but for such inclusion, it would form part.

Settlement of doubts

4. Where any doubt arises as to whether a particular matter does or does not relate to a provincial subject, the Governor General in Council shall decide whether the matter does or does not so relate, and his decision shall be final.

Duty of local Government to supply information.

5. The local Government shall furnish to the Governor General in Council from time to time such returns and information on matters relating to the administration of provincial subjects as the Governor General in Council may require and in such form as he may direct.

Transfer of subjects and revocations or suspension of transfer

6. The provincial subjects specified in the first column of Schedule II shall, in the Governors' provinces shown against each subject in the second column of the said Schedule, be transferred subjects: provided that the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, with the previous sanction of the Secretary of State in Council, revoke or suspend for such period as he may consider necessary the transfer of any provincial subject in any province, and upon such revocation or during such suspension the subject shall not be a transferred subject.

Settlement of doubts

7. If any doubt arises as to whether any matter relates to a reserved or to a transferred subject, the Governor shall decide the question, and his decision shall be final.

Transfer in consequence of legislation

8. Where an Act of the Legislative Council of a Governor's province confers on local authorities powers of the management of matters relating to reserved subjects, those matters shall, to the extent of the powers conferred by such legislation, be deemed in that province to form part of the transferred subject of local self government.

Matters affecting both reserved and transferred subjects

9. (1) When a matter appears to the Governor to affect substantially the administration both of a reserved and of a transferred subject, and there is disagreement between the member of the Executive Council and the minister concerned as to the action to be taken, it shall be the duty of the Governor, after due consideration of the advice tendered to him, to direct in which department the decision as to such action shall be given: provided that, in so far as circumstances admit, important matters on which there is such a difference of opinion shall before the giving of such direction be considered by the Governor with his Executive Council and his ministers together.

(2) In giving such a direction as is referred to in sub-rule (1), the Governor may, if he thinks fit, indicate the nature of the action which should in his judgment be taken, but the decision shall thereafter be arrived at by the Governor in Council or by the Governor and minister or ministers, according as the department to which it has been committed is a department dealing with reserved or a department dealing with transferred subjects.

Regulation of exercise of authority over members of public services

10. The authority vested in the local Government over officers of the public services employed in a Governor's province shall be exercised in the case of officers serving in a department dealing with reserved subjects by the Governor in Council, and in the case of officers serving in a department dealing with transferred subjects by the Governor acting with the minister in charge of the department: provided that—

(a) no order affecting emoluments or pensions, no order of formal censure, and no order on a memorial shall be passed to the disadvantage of an officer of an all-India or provincial service without the personal concurrence of the Governor; and

(b) no order for the posting of an officer of an all-India service shall be made without the personal concurrence of the Governor.

Service in a department

11. If an officer performs duties both in a department dealing with reserved subjects and in a department dealing with transferred subjects, the Governor shall decide in which department he shall be deemed to be serving.

Employment of I. M. S officers

12. A local Government shall employ such number of Indian Medical Service officers in such appointments and on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of State in Council.

Devolution.

13. Subject to the provisions of these rules, provincial subjects shall be administered by the local Government. But, save in the case of transferred subjects, nothing in these rules shall derogate from the power of superintendence, direction, and control conferred on the Governor General in Council by the Act.

Part II.—Financial arrangements.

Allocation of revenue

14. (1) The following sources of revenue shall, in the case of Governors' provinces and in the province of Burma, be allocated to the local Government as sources of provincial revenue, namely :—

(a) balances standing at the credit of the province at the time when the Act comes into force;

(b) receipts accruing in respect of provincial subjects;

(c) a share (to be determined in the manner provided by rule 15) in the growth of revenue derived from income-tax collected in the province, so far as that growth is attributable to an increase in the amount of income assessed;

(d) recoveries of loans and advances given by the local Government and of interest paid on such loans;

(e) payments made to the local Government by the Governor General in Council or by other local Governments, either for services rendered or otherwise;

(f) the proceeds of any taxes which may be lawfully imposed for provincial purposes;

(g) the proceeds of any loans which may be lawfully raised for provincial purposes; and

(h) any other sources which the Governor General in Council may by order declare to be sources of provincial revenue.

(2) The revenues of Berar shall be allocated to the local Government of the Central Provinces as a source of provincial revenue. This allocation shall be subject to the following conditions, namely:—

(i) that the local Government of the Central Provinces shall be responsible for the due administration of Berar; and

(ii) that if in the opinion of the Governor General in Council provision has not been made for expenditure necessary for the safety and tranquillity of Berar, the allocation shall be terminated by order of the Governor General in Council, or diminished by such amount as the Governor General in Council may by order in writing direct.

15. (1) There shall be allocated to each local Government a share in the income-tax collected under the Indian Income-Tax Act, 1918, within its jurisdiction. The share so allocated shall be three pies on each rupee brought under assessment under the said Act in respect of which the income-tax assessed has been collected.

(2) In consideration of this allocation, each local Government shall make to the Governor General in Council a fixed annual assignment of a sum to be determined by the Governor General in Council as the equivalent of the amount which would have accrued to the local Government in the year 1920-21 (after deducting the provincial share of the cost of special income-tax establishments in that year) had the pie rate fixed under sub-rule (1) been applied in that year, due allowance being made for any abnormal delays in collection of the tax.

(3) The cost of special income-tax establishments employed within a province shall be borne by the local Government and the Governor General in Council in the proportions of 25 per cent. and 75 per cent. respectively.

Payment of Government revenues into the public account.

16. All moneys derived from sources of provincial revenue shall be paid into the public account of which the Governor General in Council is custodian, and credited to the Government of the province. The Governor General in Council shall have power, with the previous sanction of the Secretary of State in Council, to prescribe by general or special order the procedure to be followed in the payment of moneys into, and in the withdrawal, transfer and disbursement of moneys from, the public account, and for the custody of moneys standing in the account.

Contributions by local Governments in 1921-22

17. In the financial year 1921-22 contributions shall be paid to the Governor General in Council by the local Governments mentioned below according to the following scale:—

Name of Province	Contributions (In lakhs of rupees).

18. From the financial year 1922-23 onwards a total contribution of 983 lakhs, or such smaller sum as may be determined by the Governor General in Council, shall be paid to the Governor General in Council by the local Governments mentioned in the preceding rule. When for any year the Governor General in Council determines as the total amount of the contribution a smaller sum than that payable for the preceding year, a reduction shall be made in the contributions of those local Governments only whose last previous annual contribution exceeds the proportion specified below of the smaller sum so determined as the total contribution; and any reduction so made shall be proportionate to such excess:—

Madras	17—90ths
Bombay	13—90ths
Bengal	19—90ths
United Provinces	18—90ths

Excess contributions in case of emergency.

19. In cases of emergency the local Government of any province may be required by the Governor General in Council, with the sanction of, and subject to the conditions approved by, the Secretary of State, to pay to the Governor General in Council a contribution for any financial year in excess of the amount required by the preceding rules in the case of that year.

Priority of contributions.

20. The contributions and assignments fixed under the preceding rules shall be a first charge on the allocated revenues and moneys of the local Governments concerned, and shall be paid in such instalments, in such manner, and on such dates, as the Governor General in Council may prescribe.

Withdrawal of balances.

21. At any time when he considers this course to be essential in the financial interests of India as a whole, the Governor General in Council shall have power to require any local Government to which revenues have been allocated under these rules so to regulate its programme of expenditure as not to reduce the balance at its credit in the public account on a specified date or dates below a stated figure, and shall have power to take the necessary steps by the restriction of issues of moneys to secure this end. Subject to this power, those local Governments shall be at liberty to draw on their balances, provided that notice of the amount which they propose to draw during the ensuing financial year is given to the Governor General in Council before such date in each year as the Governor General in Council may by order fix.

Interests on provincial balances

22. Whenever the Governor General in Council has, on receipt of due notice of the intention of the local Government to draw on its balances, required it to reduce the extent of the proposed draft, he shall, at the end of the financial year in which the local Government is debarred from drawing, credit the local Government with interest on the amount which it was not permitted to draw. Such interest shall be a charge on the revenues of India, and shall be calculated at the average rate at which the Governor General in Council has borrowed money in the open market during the year by the issue of treasury bills.

Provincial Loan Account.

23. Any moneys which, on the 1st day of April, 1921, are owed to the Governor General in Council on acccount of advances made from the provincial loan account of any province shall be treated as an advance to the local Government from the revenues of India, and shall carry interest at a rate calculated on the average rate carried by the total amount owed to the Governor General in Council on this account on the 31st March, 1921. The interest shall be payable upon such dates as the Governor General in Council may fix. In addition, the local Government shall pay to the Governor General in Council in each year an instalment in repayment of the principal amount of the advance, and this instalment shall be so fixed that the total advance shall, except where for special reasons the Governor General in Council may otherwise direct, be repaid before the expiry of twelve years. It shall be open to any local Government to repay in any year an amount in excess of the fixed instalment.

Capital expenditure on irrigation works.

24. (1) The capital sums spent by the Governor General in Council upon the construction in the various provinces of productive and protective irrigation works and of such other works financed from loan funds as may from time to time be handed over to the management of local Governments shall be treated as advances made to the local Governments from the revenues of India. Such advances shall carry interest at the following rates, namely :—

(a) in case of outlay up to the end of the financial year 1916-17, at the rate of 3·3252 per centum;

(b) in the case of outlay incurred after the financial year 1916-17, at the average rate of interest paid by the Governor General in Council on loans raised in the open market since the end of that year.

(2) The interest shall be payable upon such dates as the Governor General in Council may fix.

Advances by the Government of India.

25. The Governor General in Council may at any time make to a local Government an advance from the revenues or moneys accruing to the Governor General in Council on such terms as to interest and repayment as he may think fit.

Priority of interest charges.

26. The payment of interest on loans and advances made under the three preceding rules, and the repayment of the principal of an advance under rule 23, shall be a charge on the annual allocated revenues of the local Government, and shall have priority over all other charges, save only contributions payable to the Governor General in Council.

Powers of sanctioning transferred expenditure.

27. (1) The local Government of a Governor's province shall not, without the previous sanction of the Secretary of State in Council or of the Governor General in Council, as the case may be, include any proposal for expenditure on a transferred subject in a demand for a grant, if such sanction is required by the provisions of Schedule III to these rules.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-rule (1), the local Government of a Governor's province shall have power to sanction expenditure on transferred subjects to the extent of any grant voted by the Legislative Council.

(3) The local Government of a Governor's province shall have power to sanction any expenditure on transferred subjects which relates to the heads enumerated in section 72-D (3) of the Act, subject to the approval of the Secretary of State in Council or of the Governor General in Council if any such approval is required by any rule for the time being in force.

Delegation of powers of sanction.

28. (1) The powers of a local Government under the preceding rule to sanction expenditure, may be delegated by the local Government to an authority subordinate to it, after previous consultation with the Finance Department, to such extent as may be required for the convenient and efficient despatch of public business.

(2) Any sanction accorded under these rules shall remain valid for the specified period for which it is given, subject, in the case of voted expenditure, to the voting of grants in each year.

Famine Insurance Fund.

29. Each local Government mentioned in Schedule IV shall establish and maintain out of provincial revenues a famine insurance fund in accordance with the provisions of that Schedule, and such fund shall be controlled and administered as required by those provisions.

Taxation and borrowing

30. All proposals for raising taxation or for the borrowing of money on the revenues of a province shall in the case of a Governor's province be considered by the Governor with his Executive Council and ministers sitting together, but the decision shall thereafter be arrived at by the Governor in Council, or by the Governor and minister or ministers, according as the proposal originates with the Governor in Council or the Governor and ministers.

Allocation of revenues for the administration of transferred subjects.

31. Expenditure for the purpose of the administration of both reserved and transferred subjects shall, in the first instance, be a charge on the general revenues and balances of each province, and the framing of proposals for expenditure in regard to transferred and reserved subjects will be a matter for agreement between that part of the government which is responsible for the administration of transferred subjects and that part of the government which is responsible for the administration of reserved subjects

Procedure in event of failure to agree

32. (1) If at the time of the preparation of the budget the Governor is satisfied that there is no hope of agreement within a reasonable time between the members of his Executive Council on the one hand and ministers on the other as to the apportionment of funds between reserved and transferred departments respectively, he may, by order in writing, allocate the revenues and balances of the province between reserved and transferred subjects, by specifying the fractional proportions of the revenues and balances which shall be assigned to each class of subject.

(2) An order of allocation under this rule may be made by the Governor either in accordance with his own discretion, or in accordance with the report of an authority to be appointed by the Governor General in this behalf on the application of the Governor.

Period of order of allocation

33. Every such order shall (unless it is sooner revoked) remain in force for a period to be specified in the order, which shall be not less than the duration of the then existing Legislative Council, and shall not exceed by more than one year the duration thereof:

Provided that the Governor may at any time, if his Executive Council and ministers so desire, revoke an order of allocation or make such other allocation as has been agreed upon by them:

Provided further, that if the order which it is proposed to revoke was passed in accordance with the report of an authority appointed by the Governor General, the Governor shall obtain the consent of the Governor General before revoking the same.

Condition of order of allocation

34. Every order of allocation made under these rules shall provide that, if any increase of revenue accrues during the period of the order on account of the imposition of fresh taxation, that increase, unless the legislature otherwise directs, shall be allocated in aid of that part of the Government by which the taxation is initiated.

Preparation of budget in default of agreement or order of allocation

35. If at the time of the preparation of any budget no agreement or allocation such as is contemplated by these rules has been arrived at, the budget shall be prepared on the basis of the aggregate grants respectively provided for the reserved and transferred subjects in the budget of the year about to expire.

Part III.—Finance Department.

(3) The joint secretary shall be specially charged with the duty of examining and dealing with financial questions arising in relation to transferred subjects and with proposals for taxation or borrowing put forward by any minister.

(ii) for the purpose of such preparation, it shall obtain from the departments concerned material on which to base its estimates, and it shall be responsible for the correctness of the estimates framed on the material so supplied;

(iii) it shall examine and advise on all schemes of new expenditure for which it is proposed to make provision in the estimates, and shall decline to provide in the estimates for any scheme which has not been so examined;

38. (1) After grants have been voted by the Legislative Council—

(a) the Finance Department shall have power to sanction any re-appropriation within a grant from one major, minor or subordinate head to another.

(b) the member or minister in charge of a department shall have power to sanction any re-appropriation within a grant between heads subordinate to a minor head which does not involve undertaking a recurring liability, provided that a copy of any order sanctioning such a re-appropriation shall be communicated to the Finance Department as soon as it is passed.

(2) The Finance Department shall have power to sanction the delegation by a member or minister to any officer or class of officers of the power of re-appropriation conferred on such member or minister by clause (1) (b) above.

(3) Copies of orders sanctioning any re-appropriation which does not require the sanction of the Finance Department shall be communicated to that department as soon as such orders are passed.

Matters to be referred to Finance Department

Establishment changes.

40. No office may be added to, or withdrawn from, the public service in the province and the emoluments of no post may be varied except after consultation with the Finance Department; and, when it is proposed to add a permanent or temporary post to the public service, the Finance Department shall, if it thinks necessary, refer for the decision of the Audit Department the question whether the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council is, or is not, necessary.

	Actual.	Revised estimate.	Increase.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Jetties	25,83,016	22,53,900	3,29,116
Tea Warehouses	4,83,045	3,55,300	1,27,745
Railway	19,33,589	17,76,900	1,56,689
River Dues	17,87,568	16,32,625	1,54,943
Special War Surcharge ...	64,66,809	62,00,000	2,66,809

Expenditure.—The expenditure on Revenue Account amounted to Rs. 2,25,51,874 as against the revised estimate of Rs. 2,14,26,897 for the year and Rs. 1,84,14,423 the actual expenditure for the previous year.

The actual expenditure appreciably exceeded the revised budget estimate for the year under the following heads :—

	Actual	Revised estimate.	Increase.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Jetties	13,25,994	11,95,201	1,30,793
Port	11,18,095	8,84,866	2,33,229
Port Approaches	12,25,162	10,07,642	2,17,520
Railway	19,00,732	17,43,858	1,56,874
Wet Docks	40,75,008	37,97,178	2,77,830

Jetties.—The tonnage handled at the jetties amounted to 713,746 against 574,833 for the year 1918-19, and the total earnings of traffic at the jetties were Rs. 22,44,027 against Rs. 23,91,512 respectively. In spite of improvement in the tonnage handled there was an appreciable decrease in receipts. This was due to the falling off in storage and removal charges.

Docks.—During the year 966 vessels were berthed at the Docks as against 790 in the previous year. The total imports and exports traffic including coal, in tons at the Docks was 653,066 and 3,411,455, respectively, against 482,403 and 2,430,847 of the previous year The tonnage of imports was the second highest on record, due mainly to the heavy imports of rice and paddy brought about by the failure of the rice crops in many parts of India. The increase in exports over that of the previous year was due mainly to Jute, Tea, Shellac, Cotton and Hides. On the whole the increase in traffic is attributed to more tonnage being available and to the removal of restrictions on exports to foreign countries.

Inland Vessels Wharves, Budge Budge.—There was a slight decrease as compared with the previous year in the earnings of the Inland Vessels Wharves attributed to smaller traffic in rice and jute.

The total number of vessels berthed at Budge Budge was 150 as compared with 114 in 1918-19.

Tea Warehouses.—Stocks were greater than the deliveries and it was necessary to allot accommodation at the Kantapukur Depôt for the storage of teas.

The receipts amounted to Rs. 4,13,413 against Rs. 2,57,585 in the previous year, the increase arising chiefly from storage charges.

Rates and Charges.—During the year the following were the more important changes in rates and charges made by the Commissioners :—

(1) The imposition as a temporary measure from September 1919 to April 1920 of a penal rate of rent on sold teas to expedite deliveries.

(2) The introduction of penal rates of rent on goods landed at or stored at the Heavy Lift Yard at Mullick Ghat.

(3) The introduction of a uniform wharfage charge of annas 10 per ton on all non-dangerous petroleum and its products, landed at the Petroleum Wharf, Budge Budge.

(4) The introduction of a special rate of freight at 20 per cent. higher than the ordinary rates on goods booked over the Commissioners' Railways at Railway risk.

Navigable Channels.—The improvement effected in the river channels was on the whole satisfactory. About Fulta Point a Bar suddenly formed early in June and the crossing showed a depth of 18 feet only in the middle of that month. But a depth of 25 feet was available from July.

Night Navigation.—The gas buoys and boats in the lighted channel between Mud Point and Saugor were maintained in good order. During the cyclone of the 24th September, the Light Vessels "Luna", "Star" and "Hesperus" broke adrift. The "Luna" was replaced within 5½ days and the "Star" and "Hesperus" in 3 days.

Capital Works.—The chief capital works in progress during the year were—

(a) The river side berths at Garden Reach.
(b) Reconstruction of No. 3, Calcutta jetty.
(c) New four-storied Tea Warehouse in Hide Road.
(d) Reclamation work and land acquisition in connection with the new dock scheme.
(e) Purchase of the sloop "Pansy" from the Admiralty to replace the Despatch Vessel "Retriever."

Capital Account.—The total liabilities of the Trust on capital account at the close of the year amounted to Rs. 9·84 crores, while the total assets were Rs. 14·16 crores. The difference of Rs. 4·32 crores is the largest on record.

General.—Mr. T. J. McCloughin, Traffic Manager, officiated as Vice-Chairman during the absence on leave of Mr. S. C. Stuart-Williams from the commencement of the year to the 6th November 1919.

The Governor in Council desires to thank the Chairman, Sir Charles Stevenson-Moore, K.C.I.E., C.V.O., I.C.S., the officiating Vice-Chairman, Mr. T. J. McCloughin, and the Vice-Chairman, Mr. S. C. Stuart-Williams for their successful administration of the Trust.

By order of the Governor in Council,

C. B. BAYLEY,

Deputy Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Bhadoi Crops of Bengal, 1920-21.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1918-19, the area under autumn rice in Bengal has represented some 6·2 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—As reported in the first forecast, the weather was generally favourable for sowings in the Eastern and Northern districts, but in some western districts, it was somewhat less so. During the period of growth, lack of soil moisture was felt in a few districts in the early part, but good rainfall in the latter part generally improved the situation. Just at the time of harvesting, the crops suffered in most districts of Eastern and Northern Bengal from excessive rainfall and floods whereby the outturn was reduced. In West Bengal, no appreciable damage was done except by floods in Midnapore and a good outturn was reaped in these tracts. On the whole, the season was favourable in Western Bengal and generally fair in the rest of the province.

Acreage.—The total area sown with the different bhadoi crops this year is reported to be 5,935,100 acres as against 5,814,100 acres last year (now revised). Of this, the area under autumn rice is estimated at 5,109,300 acres this year as against 4,961,600 acres in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—According to the district officers' estimates, the outturn of the different bhadoi crops for the province works out to 86 per cent. of the normal against 85 per cent. reported in the final forecast of the last year. Autumn rice, the most important of the bhadoi crops, shows an outturn of 86 per cent. for the province this year against 87 per cent. of last year.

Autumn rice.—Accepting 86 per cent. as the outturn of autumn rice this year, the gross outturn of the crop for the province, on the basis of a normal yield of 10½ maunds of clean grain per acre, is estimated at 1,694,800 tons against 1,665,000 tons of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Second Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1920-21.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1918-19, the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 19·7 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—As reported in the first forecast, the rainfall in February and March was sufficient for the preparatory tillage for broadcast paddy. Consequently, adequate moisture was left in the soil and the sowing operations proceeded satisfactorily, especially in the eastern districts during the months of April and May where a full area was sown with this variety. In portions of West Bengal, however, sowings finished as late as June. Defective rainfall in June and July hampered transplanting, especially in the high lands of northern and western districts, but this was accelerated by the good rainfall received in August and in the early part of September. Heavy rainfall in September and October, however, damaged the crop to some extent in certain low lands of North and East Bengal, but on the other hand, this was highly beneficial to the late transplanted paddy. On the whole, the season was good for the broadcast and fair for the transplanted crops.

Acreage.—According to District Officers estimates, the total area under winter rice amounts to 15,394,700 acres as against 15,319,500 acres in the first forecast of this year as against 15,551,400 and 15,606,100 acres in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. The increase of 75·200 acres over the first forecast was due to sufficient rainfall in August and September.

Outturn.—From the district returns appended, it will be seen that the district of Dacca returns more than a normal (i.e., 110 per cent.), the districts of Howrah, Bakarganj, Chittagong and Noakhali return a normal crop and seventeen districts report a crop varying between 75 and 92 per cent. The remaining five districts (viz., Nadia, Murshidabad, Dinajpur, Malda and the Chittagong Hill Tracts) report a crop as low as between 58 and 67 per cent. As compared with the first forecast, the crop has improved in twelve districts, deteriorated in seven districts and remained unchanged in the remaining eight.

According to the estimate of the District Officers, the outturn for the whole Province works out to 87 per cent. But in consideration of the favourable weather conditions during the months of September and October and of the under-estimates in some districts, I am of opinion that the crop will not be less than 90 per cent. of the normal. Accepting 90 per cent. as the provincial outturn, the gross yield of the cleaned winter rice crop for the Province, on the basis of a normal yield of 12½ maunds per acre, is estimated at 6,362,100 tons against 6,426,900 and 6,449,500 tons in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

Second Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1920-21.

District.	Estimated normal area under winter rice.	Estimated area under winter rice.		Estimated outturn as a percentage of the normal yield per unit of area.		The date by which the harvesting generally commenced this year, and whether that date was early, normal or late.	Remarks by District Officers.
		Last year (1919-20).	This year (1920-21).	Last year.	This year.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
24-Parganas ...	1,041,500	825,100	813,000	92	83	November. Normal ...	The wether has been fairly favourable on the whole. The crop suffered from drought at the early stage which has affected the outturn.
Nadia	136,800	130,100	159,900	67	67	Not yet commenced ...	The decrease in area as compared with the first forecast is due to want of rain which prevented the transplantation and also damaged paddy in a considerable area. Since the submission of the first forecast, the weather has been fair. The outturn is below the normal owing to want of timely rain.
Murshidabad ...	351,400	318,700	293,500	83	67	Ditto ...	The increase in area as compared with the first forecast is due to subsequent transplantation, but the decrease in area as compared with last year is due to untimely and late rain. The weather has not been favourable on the whole. Late and untimely rain in the beginning and continued drought later on affected the growth of the crop and caused damage to the extent of 33 per cent.
Jessore	568,100	455,500	459,100	83	75	November. Normal ...	The weather has not been very favourable. About 33 per cent. of the crop was damaged by flood in the Narail subdivision and by want of timely rain in other parts of the district.
Khulna ...	826,200	702,900	710,500	83	92	First week of November. Normal.	The weather has been favourable and the growth of the crop good. The damage to the crop is reported from police-station Paikgacha, Assassuni and Tala for want of timely rain and to influx of saline water.
Burdwan ...	874,800	736,000	677,700	75	83	End of November. Normal.	The decrease in area as compared with last year is due to late rainfall in places. The prospects of the crop improved later on. Some damage has been done by drought in Asansol subdivision. Insufficient rain and drought account for the fall in outturn below the normal.
Birbhum ...	604,600	601,500	563,000	92	75	Not yet commenced ...	The weather has not been very favourable. Want of sufficient rainfall accounts for the fall in outturn.
Bankura ...	510,600	525,000	525,000	125	83	Last week of October. Normal.	The weather was not favourable. Insufficient rainfall in September and October affected the growth of the crop and caused damage to the extent of about 17 per cent.
Midnapore ...	1,537,100	1,549,200	1,617,400	83	85	Not yet commenced ...	The decrease in area as compared with the first forecast is due mainly to revision of estimates for the Contai subdivision. The weather has been fair. There has been slight damage owing to floods throughout the district.
Hooghly ...	276,700	206,400	202,300	70	88	Ditto ...	The crop at first suffered much for want of sufficient rainfall but afterwards there was adequate rainfall which improved its condition. Slight damage by flood has been reported from the Arambagh subdivision and in the Sadar subdivision the crop suffered for want of rain.
Howrah ...	126,200	119,500	119,700	83	100	Ditto ...	The increase in area as compared with the first forecast is due to further transplantation on lands where jute was cut. The weather has been favourable on the whole. The damage done by flood has been made good by retransplantation. The outturn is expected to be normal.
Rajshahi ...	822,700*	656,300	630,000	92	75	Ditto ...	Owing to want of timely rain, transplantaion was delayed and many fields were left uncultivated. Before the plants could sufficiently take root, they went under water owing to floods in September in the Naogaon subdivision. Hence the decrease in outturn. The weather has been fair since the submission of the first forecast.
Dinajpur ...	1,120,300	1,029,000	919,400	80	62	Ditto ...	The increase in area as compared with the first forecast if due to sufficient rain and favourable weather since the submission of the first forecast, but some damage was done by flood in September. On the whole the weather has not been favourable. The outturn is expected to fall much below the normal owing to want of timely rainfall.

Jalpaiguri ...	467,400*	417,500	434,600	75	83	Not yet commenced ...	The weather has been favourable since the submission of the first forecast. For want of timely rain, the outturn is below the normal.
Darjeeling ...	65,200	25,600	25,800	100	92	November. Normal ...	The increase in area is reported from the Siliguri subdivision. The weather has been fair since the submission of the first forecast. In the Kalimpong subdivision, about 30 per cent. of the crop has been damaged by drought.
Rangpur ...	822,300	600,000	581,400	75	814	Not yet commenced ...	The decrease in area as compared with last year is due to scanty rainfall during sowing season. Sufficient rainfall in September and October caused a little increase in area over that shown in the first forecast. The weather has been favourable since the submission of the first forecast. Slight damage was caused by heavy rain in the middle of September.
Bogra ...	303,000	447,000	445,000	90	80	End of November ...	The weather since the submission of the first forecast was favourable, but for the flood in the latter part of September, the outturn would have been much better.
Pabna ...	566,000	382,500	491,600	80	83	First week of November. Normal.	The weather at the beginning was not favourable for want of timely rainfall, but subsequent rainfall improved the growth of the crop. About two annas of the crop was damaged by continued drought. The present prospects are promising.
Malda ...	326,200	303,900	298 300	117	58	Latter part of November.	The decrease in area as compared with last year was due to want of rain at sowing time. The weather was not favourable till the latter part of August owing to scantiness of rainfall which retarded the transplantation and growth of the crop. About two annas was damaged by flood in the northern part of the district after the submission of the first forecast. Want of timely rain accounts for the low outturn.
Dacca ...	647,900	655,300	665,300	85	110	Beginning of November.	The increase in area is due to fall in jute market and to rise in the price of food-stuffs. The weather has been favourable and the growth of the crop good. The outturn is expected to be above the normal.
Mymensingh ...	1,126,700	969,700	969,700	92	90	Not yet commenced ...	The weather has been generally favourable and the growth of the crop fair. Slight damage is reported from the Kishoreganj subdivision owing to flood. The outturn is expected to be a little below the normal.
Faridpur ...	770,100	734,100	745,200	68	92	By the end of October. Normal.	The weather has been favourable on the whole, but excessive rain and drought caused a little damage to the crop.
Bakarganj ...	1,200,000	1,342,500	1,346,100	125	100	November. Normal ...	The weather has been favourable. Insufficient rain in July and August retarded the growth of the crop at the beginning, but subsequently the weather has been favourable. The condition of the crop in the lowlying lands and char lands is rather good but the crop on high land is not fair. On the whole, however, a normal outturn is expected.
Chittagong ...	418,400	420,600	421,300	92	100	November and December.	The weather has been seasonable and the growth of the crop fair. The outturn is expected to be normal.
Tippera ...	787,000*	806,500	787,000	92	83	November. Normal ...	The weather has been favourable since the submission of the first forecast. Some damage was done by drought. The outturn is expected to be below the normal owing to want of rain since the latter part of October.
Noakhali ...	640,000	600,000	630,000	85	100	Early in November. Normal.	The weather was fair, except at the latter part of the season when heavy rain adversely affected the growth of the crop. The effects of the weather on the whole have been favourable. The crop was damaged slightly in the first part of Octobers. The outturn is anticipated to be normal this year.
Chittagong Hill Tracts.	47,500	46,000	45,000	56	56	Not yet commenced.	The decrease in area this year is due to unfavourable weather and insufficient rainfall.
Total Bengal ...	16,963,700	15,696,100	15,394,700	90†	90†

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

First Forecast of the Spring Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1920-21.

[Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1918-19, the area under linseed in Bengal has represented 5·5 per cent. and that under rape and mustard 19·4 per cent. of the total areas under these crops in British India.]

Explanatory—Three forecasts are issued for the spring oilseed crops. The present one deals only with the area sown and the general condition of the crops.

Area sown.—Oilseeds are grown chiefly in the Rajshahi, Dacca and the Presidency Divisions. In the other two divisions the cultivation is small. The total area under these crops (excepting sesamum for which separate forecasts are issued) is returned as 1,219,500 acres this year against 1,280,000 and 1,265,800 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Character of the season.—The rainfall in September was heavy in Eastern and Northern Bengal, while in Western Bengal the fall was slightly in defect. The preparatory tillage for the crops began at the normal time, but owing to heavy rainfall in October and consequently excessive moisture in the soil the sowings have generally been delayed. As a result the acreage under the crops is expected to show a decrease, especially in Rajshahi, Jalpaiguri and in most parts of the Presidency Division. Dry weather since then has proved favourable and the present condition is reported to be fair.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Forecast of the Winter Til (Sesamum) Crop of Bengal, 1920-21.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1918-19, the area under* til in Bengal has represented about 5·0 per cent. of the total area under til *in British India.)

Character of the season.—The rainfall in August was generally moderate and was favourable for sowings which began at the normal time. Subsequently, during the months of September and October, excessive rain and floods interfered with the growth of the crop to some extent and caused damage in parts of the Rajshahi Division. The crop recovered somewhat from the effects of the wet weather during the dry spell that followed but continued drought has since affected the growth, and the outturn, in consequence, has been adversely affected more especially in parts of Nadia, Hooghly, Tippera and the Chittagong Hill Tracts. Injury by insect-pests is also reported from parts of Nadia and Malda. On the whole, the season has not been favourable for the crop.

Acreage.—The total area sown this year is estimated at 43,900 acres against 42,600 acres last year.

Outturn.—According to estimates of District Officers the outturn of the crop for the province, as a whole, works out at 69 per cent. of the normal against 68 per cent last year. Taking 6⅛ maunds as the normal rate of yield per acre, the gross outturn for the province is estimated at 6,800 tons against 6,500 tons last year.

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF NOVEMBER 1920.

I. Character of the Season.—The month was practically rainless. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of Agricultural Operations.—Reaping of winter paddy continued under favourable weather conditions. Due to excessive soil moisture in October the progress of the sowing of spring crops during the month could not proceed favourably. Consequently less area is likely to be sown.

III. State of Standing Crops.—The condition and prospects of the spring crops were generally reported to be fair and those of sugarcane fairly good.

IV. Prospects and Probable Outturn.—The outlook of spring crops, so far, was generally reported to be hopeful but some moisture is required now to improve their prospects. A fair outturn of winter paddy is anticipated from the high land tracts and a satisfactory one from the low lying tracts.

V. Damage to Standing Crops.—No appreciable damage was reported excepting in parts of Tippera district where some injury to winter paddy was caused by insect pests.

VI. Condition of Agricultural Stock.—The condition of live-stock was reported to be satisfactory on the whole. Sporadic cases of cattle-disease, however, were reported from nine districts.

VII. Failure of Pasturage and Fodder.—The supply of fodder and water was reported to be sufficient throughout the Presidency.

VIII. Prices of Food-grains.—During the second-half of the month under report the price of common rice of the cheapest quality fell in eighteen districts and remained stationary in the rest. It ranged from 4½ seers a rupee in Darjeeling to 8 seers a rupee in Tippera, Birbhum and Jessore.

IX. Condition of Agricultural People.—The condition of the agricultural population is slightly improving with the gradual falling off in the price of rice.

Architectural Scholarship.

APPLICATIONS are invited for a scholarship to be granted by the Government of India for the training of an Indian student in architecture.

2. The scholarship will be of Rs. 100 a month for the first, Rs. 125 for the second and Rs. 150 for the third year; should it be extended beyond the third year, it will remain at Rs. 150

3. The scholarship will be granted for achitectural training at the office of the Consulting Architect to the Government of Bombay (where the scholar will also attend the architectural classes at the Sir J. J. School of Art), and subsequently in the Archæological Department. Provided that the scholar shows special aptitude for archæological work his scholarship, which, in the first instance, will be given for one year only, may be extended to two or more years, according to the discretion of the Director-General of Archæology.

4. Ordinarily the candidate for a scholarship must have taken the B. A. or other equivalent degree in an Indian University, but these qualifications may be dispensed with in an exceptional case. He must produce a medical certificate of physical fitness to undergo the proposed courses of study at Bombay.

5. The final selection of the candidate will rest with the Government of India, but a nomination will be made by the Government of Bengal.

6. The candidate when selected will have to proceed to Bombay and report himself to the Consulting Architect to the Government of Bombay, and his scholarship will be payable from the date of the report of his arrival in Bombay.

7. As it is not intended that the scholarship should be a living wage, but should merely help the student in his career, no candidate will be nominated who does not possess some means of livelihood other than those to be drawn from the scholarship.

8. Although no guarantee can be given as to the employment of an ex-scholar in Government service, Government is anxious to secure promising Indian recruits for the Archæological Department, and should a scholar prove himself capable of good work, there is every prospect that he will find an opening in this Department. Applications should reach the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department, not later than the 15th of January 1921.

Indian Standard time is 5½ hours ahead of Greenwich mean time.

2. The time signals from Calcutta will be transmitted immediately before the weather reports. A similar arrangement will hold for the time signals which will be started at Bombay at an early date.

3. The sending station will signal the "All Station" call five times before sending the messages in order to give ship stations an opportunity of obtaining the correct adjustment of their instruments.

RESOLUTION—No. 2316 Medl.

THE recommendations of the Public Services Commission and of the Medical Services Committee on the subject of the pay of Civil Assistant Surgeons have for some time past been under the consideration of the Government of India and of the local Governments. The sanction of the Secretary of State for India to a revision of the pay of these officers has now been received, and the local Government has been authorised to fix new scales, subject to the limits sanctioned by the Secretary of State. After careful consideration, the Governor in Council has decided to adopt the following revised scales of pay. The existing scales are also shown for purposes of comparison :—

			Selection grade for Assistant Surgeons appointed to be Civil Surgeons	...	1,000

Until further orders, the passing of departmental examinations after 7 and 14 years of service will continue, as at present, to be a condition precedent to the drawing of further increments.

2. Temporary Civil Assistant Surgeons will in future draw the same pay, viz., Rs. 150 per mensem, as probationers. The pay of Assistant Surgeons appointed to officiate as Civil Surgeons will continue to be regulated by article 142 of the Civil Service Regulations as at present. The selection grade is limited to 25 per cent. of Civil Surgeoncies reserved for Military and Civil Assistant Surgeons taken together. There being 12 Civil Surgeoncies at present available in this Presidency for both these classes of officers, there will be three posts in the selection grade, one of which will be reserved for Military Assistant Surgeons and two for Civil Assistant Surgeons.

3. The officers at present in service will be permitted to count the whole of their service towards the new time-scale, and the various allowances at present drawn by them in addition to their grade pay will continue to be drawn by them in addition to the new scale of pay.

4. These orders will have effect from 3rd September 1920.

5. Contributions are at present realised from local bodies for the services of Assistant Surgeons lent to them at the rate of Rs. 290 per mensem in the case of local fund dispensaries to which Assistant Surgeons were lent before the 1st August 1913, and at the rate of Rs. 280 per mensem in other cases. In consequence of the increase of pay of Assistant Surgeons now sanctioned, these rates will require revision. Orders on the subject will be issued separately.

By order of the Governor in Council,

A. MARR,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE SANITARY AND VACCINATION REPORTS, BENGAL.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT.

Sanitation Branch.

CALCUTTA, THE 27TH DECEMBER 1920.

RESOLUTION—No. 1355San.

READ—

The reports of the Sanitary Commissioner, the Sanitary Board and the Sanitary Engineer, Bengal, for the year 1919.

READ ALSO—

The eleventh triennial report on vaccination in Bengal for the years 1917-18, 1918-19 and 1919-20.

1. General results—Birth-rate.—During the year 1919 the number of recorded deaths in Bengal exceeded the number of recorded births by 396,000, or 8·7 per mille of the population. The birth-rate was only 27·5 per mille, the lowest returned since 1892 : it was 5·4 per mille less than the ratio of 1918 and 5·3 per mille less than the average for the preceding five years. Every district showed a reduction in the birth-rate, and only one province in India returned a lower ratio, viz., Madras, where it was 25·5 per mille. The decrease is attributed by the Sanitary Commissioner to economic pressure resulting from the poor harvest of 1918, combined with the effect of high prices, the prevalence of influenza and the consequent excessive mortality which occurred in the latter part of 1918 and the earlier months of 1919.

2. Death-rate.—The number of deaths was 226,000 above the quinquennial average, though it fell short of the previous year's figure by 86,000. The death-rate represented 36·2 per mille of the population and was higher than in any year since 1905 with the exception of 1918 ; it was, however, less than that returned by four other provinces in India. The heavy mortality of the year was the aftermath of the influenza epidemic of 1918 and was enhanced by virulent and widespread epidemics of cholera and small-pox. In the opinion of the Sanitary Commissioner it is difficult to trace any marked correlation between the range of prices and the mortality in Bengal, the increased prices of food-grains, though they bear heavily on certain lasses of the community, tending, in the presence of reasonably good harvests, to benefit a large proportion of the population ; but such a correlation is observable in the case of crop outturns and mortality, deficient harvests being almost invariably followed by an increased number of deaths.

The highest mortality in the towns of Bengal was returned by Howrah, where the death-rate was 55·1 per mille. It was closely followed by Barnagore with 54·8, of which over 20 per cent. was due to cholera, dysentery and diarrhœa. The Sanitary Commissioner remarks that it is significant that over 40 per cent. of the total mortality in the latter town should have been due to easily preventible water-borne diseases of this nature, while over 14 per cent. of the mortality was due to small-pox, another easily preventible disease.

3. Infant mortality.—The number of deaths amongst infants declined by 55,000, but owing to the fall in the aggregate of births the actual ratio of infantile mortality was nearly exactly the same as in 1918. A large and representative committee was appointed by the Governor in Council in May 1919 to advise upon measures to reduce infantile mortality and promote child welfare, and its final report is awaited.

4. Cholera.—The mortality from cholera aggregated 125,000, a figure which has only once been exceeded in the last 10 years. Only one of the 116 municipalities and only 4 out of 498 registration circles were immune from the disease. The high mortality was caused by the conditions which commenced in the cold weather of 1918, viz., short rainfall in October, the early cessation of the rains and the consequent deficiency of crops. These factors led to increased emigration, the effect of which was seen in the heavy incidence of cholera at centres where cooly labourers halted on their way to Assam and the Duars, and the manner in which infection spread along the river and railway routes. It is probable also that a considerable proportion of the enhanced mortality in the Burdwan and Presidency divisions was indirectly due to infection from pilgrims returning from Saugor Island, where there was an outbreak in January 1919.

The Governor in Council is pleased to notice that, in the opinion of the Sanitary Commissioner, although many local authorities are still very apathetic and slow to accept responsibility in regard to the prevention of cholera, there is evidence that they are gradually waking up to the importance of taking steps to investigate the cause of local outbreaks with a view to applying the simple means necessary for preventing the spread of infection. Action is, however, only too often belated, little or nothing being done to disinfect wells and tanks till cholera has become widespread. The Sanitary Commissioner rightly complains of the absence of concerted and systematic preventive measures and remarks :—"Cholera was reported from no less than 15,876 villages in the province, but only a few advanced districts, such as Burdwan, have as yet made any attempt to deal with this scourge of village life, and as a consequence of this neglect, every year sees many thousands of lives needlessly sacrificed and enormous economic loss occasioned to the province."

5. Small-pox.—Deaths from small-pox rose above the high figure of 33,000 recorded in 1915 and aggregated 37,000. Its ravages were general, but compared with last year a smaller number of children under 10 were attacked, and the enhanced mortality was chiefly among adults. In several mofussil towns it was found that the disease was imported from Calcutta and spread first among the sweepers, a class specially prejudiced against vaccination, and from them to the townspeople at large.

6. Vaccination.—Vaccination was stimulated by the prevalence of small-pox and by the efforts of the Sanitary Department to popularize preventive measures. Early in the season warnings were issued that an epidemic was likely to occur ; illustrated leaflets and posters were circulated widely, which appear to have had a good effect ; and local authorities and officers were urged to push on vaccination vigorously. The result was that the number of vaccinations increased by nearly 80 per cent, rising from 1,785,000 to 3,187,000. Free vaccination was introduced, at the cost of the District Boards, in Birbhum and Howrah and in the Patuakhali subdivision of the Bakarganj district. It was also continued in the districts of Burdwan, the 24-Parganas and Jalpaiguri as well as in certain thanas of Bogra and Malda. Several District Boards employed paid vaccinators, and this system proved successful wherever it was adopted.

7. Fever.—The mortality from fever, always high in Bengal, was 1,229,000, or 27·1 per mille, which was 2·9 per mille less than the rate recorded in the previous year. The effect of influenza, many of the deaths from which were returned under this head, is reflected in the returns. The mortality was especially heavy in the first six months, when also influenza was raging, fell in July and, after a slight rise in August, declined steadily each month.

8. Anti-malarial measures.—The four anti-malarial schemes, of which an account was given in last year's resolution, came into full operation and the results are reported to have been distinctly encouraging. Work was started on the Nawi-Sunthi and Jabuna schemes, two large drainage schemes of which the object is to resuscitate dead or dying rivers. Twenty-four municipalities having reported that they had undertaken special anti-malarial measures on lines laid down by the Sanitary Commissioner, a special enquiry was made to test the results. It was ascertained that with three exceptions (Birnagar, Panihati and Tangail) little or nothing had been attempted, and that very few of the municipal boards concerned had made any budget provision for anti-malarial work. In many of the towns moreover, the incidence of malaria was found to be so small that special measures were not really required. The special Deputy Sanitary Commissioner was, however, able to advise others as to the measures suitable to local conditions. These facts are significant of the need for local authorities enlisting the help of the Sanitary Department and having a malarial survey made before incurring expenditure. Malarial surveys were made in 276 villages, 4 collieries and one tea-garden in addition to these 24 municipalities. In spite of the increase of the price of quinine treatments effected in 1918, the issues rose by 27 per cent. Altogether 9,000 lbs of quinine were sold in this way to retail purchasers, besides which about 1,200 lbs of quinine in tablet form was issued by Government for free distribution among the poor by District Boards, municipalities and officers of the Sanitary Department.

9. Influenza.—The influenza epidemic of 1918 continued during the first half of the year, though in a less virulent form. Owing to deaths from it being largely ascribed to fever, it is impossible to gauge with complete accuracy the actual mortality, but the Sanitary Commissioner estimates that the total number of deaths in 1919 may be roughly taken at 200,000; and that the epidemic took a toll of nearly 600,000 lives in the two years. The incidence of the disease was far from uniform. The Burdwan and Birbhum districts appear to have suffered most severely, each probably losing an aggregate of 3 per cent. of their population during the two years; Bankura, Nadia and Murshidabad each lost 2½ per cent. of their population; in Hooghly, Darjeeling, Jalpaiguri, Midnapore and Chittagong the deaths represent a loss of from 1·5 to 1·8 per cent.; in Noakhali, Malda, Mymensingh, Pabna and Tippera the loss is rather over one per cent.; in Dacca, Rajshahi and Khulna it is rather less than one per cent.; in Howrah, 24-Parganas and Dinajpur it is about ·7 per cent.; in Rangpur about ·6 per cent.; in Bogra about ·5 per cent.; and in Jessore and Faridpur between ·3 and ·4 per cent. only.

10. Special enquiries.—A resolution on the progress of anti-hookworm campaign was published on 31st May 1920, and it will be sufficient to state here that valuable investigation work has been done, knowledge of the disease and of its effects has been disseminated, and progress has been made in establishing centres for diagnosis and treatment. An investigation into the extent and causes of pollution of the water of the river Hooghly was commenced and a special enquiry was made into the prevalence of kala azar in the districts of Dacca and Mymensingh. In the Tangail subdivision in the Mymensingh district, it appears that there is a high rate of kala azar infection, and the District Board has been urged to start a campaign against the disease on systematic lines. In the Dacca district the result of the enquiry is to show that a severe stage of infection has not yet been reached, and it rests with the District Board to make a thorough survey of infected areas and to arrange for treatment, which should not only prevent the further spread of the disease but be effectual in eradicating it from the district.

11. Asansol Mines Board of Health.—The Governor in Council desires to acknowledge the continued good work done by the Asansol Mines Board of Health, of the beneficial effects of which two instances may be mentioned. The ratio of infant mortality in the area under its jurisdiction was only 145 per mille compared with the rate of 342 in the district as a whole and the provincial rate of 22·8 : this satisfactory result is ascribed to the fact that the Board of Health employs a staff of trained midwives, who not only render gratuitous assistance to women during confinement but also act as health visitors. The effect of the efficient system of vaccination and revaccination in force is apparent from the fact that there were only 14 deaths from small-pox, all imported, and that there were only 200 local cases, none of which proved fatal.

12. Sanitary Engineering.—Altogether 14 schemes of water-supply, sewerage and anti-malarial drainage were in course of construction during the year under the control of the Sanitary Engineer; six of these were completed, while the expenditure on new construction work amounted to four lakhs of rupees. The progress of work was impeded by several unavoidable causes. The rise in the cost of materials necessitated revision of the estimates and a consequent re-examination of the financial basis of the schemes; variations in rates of exchange and labour difficulties in England interfered with tenders for machinery and other materials, and after the acceptance of tenders there was uncertainty about delivery and delay in the fulfilment of contracts.

The growing realization of the importance of industrial housing in large labour centres congregated near the mills is evinced by the munificent contribution of 18½ lakhs, which has been made by the jute mill companies having mills along the Hooghly for schemes of sanitation in mill towns. Projects were prepared during the year under review for the sewerage of Titaghar, Naihati, Bhatpara, Kamarhati, Bhadreswar and Champdany, and for a town-planning scheme at Bhatpara, as well as for the improvement of its water-supply.

13. Water-supply.—Of late years the District Boards have given greater attention to the question of improving the sources of rural water-supply, and in the year under report over 6½ lakhs of rupees were spent on the construction of new tanks and wells in rural areas and over Rs. 68,000 on the upkeep of the existing sources of supply. The Governor in Council cordially appreciates the efforts of the District Boards in this direction, but doubts their sagacity in financing capital works of this nature from revenue. The Sanitary Commissioner himself points out in this connection that the practice of devoting a large portion of general revenue to items of capital expenditure, which might legitimately be met from loans, is seriously crippling the public health work of District Boards and preventing them from undertaking proper measures for the suppression of such epidemic diseases as cholera, which require a sufficiently numerous staff of suitably trained subordinates.

14. Staff.—The year under review witnessed a rapid expansion of the work of the Sanitary Department, the burden of which fell largely on the Sanitary Commissioner, Dr. Bentley. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to Dr. Bentley for his devotion to duty and the untiring zeal and indefatigable energy with which he discharged the responsibilities of his office. The Governor in Council desires to express his appreciation of the efficient management of the sanitary engineering branch of the Department by Mr. G. B. Williams, and, on his proceeding on leave, by Mr. F. C. Griffin. He also desires to thank the Sanitary Board for the assistance which they rendered Government in advising on the schemes submitted by local bodies.
